Mme. Chiang Faces Cool U. S.

American Officials Silent

Direct Appeal Seen In Visit

WASHINGTON — (UP) — American policy-makers were reported cool today to Madame Chiang Kai-shek's plan to visit this country.

The forthcoming trip was viewed in some official quarters as a move by China to by-pass the policy-makers and appeal directly to Congress and the American people for more military and economic help.

Though it was generally understood that no official invitation was extended to Mme. Chiang, the state department refused to say so. This caution presumably was prompted by fear that such a statement might constitute a "loss of face" for China's already hard-pressed nationalist government.

As though in response to China's frantic entreaties for more help, Secretary of State George C. Marshall told newsmen Wednesday that the administration is well aware of the critical situation in the far East. He added that this government is seeking the proper means of helping the regime of Generalissimo Chiang.

But Marshall made it clear that the administration (1) considers the problem complicated and is proceeding cautiously; (2) Is trying to determine just how deeply this country can, or should, get involved in the Chinese war; and (3) Will have to balance China aid against available supplies and "cold war" commitments elsewhere.

Meanwhile, communist forces commanded by the "one-eyed dragon," General Liupochen, today were reported to have surged to within 35 miles of Nanking, capital of Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government.

The sudden southern sweep of the communists punched another gap in the vital rail communications between Nanking and Hsuchow.

AIM AT RAIL TOWN

Government reports today said the main communist target was Chingpaling, a rail town 35 miles north of Nanking. The situation in the town was said to be "obscure." A few days ago Red demolition teams were reported to have dynamited a section of railroad track near Chingpaling was coordinated with diversionary attacks on Tingyuan and Tzuho, 70 and 50 miles northwest of Nanking to the west of Chingpaling.

The government rushed strong reinforcements south from Pengpu and north from Pukow, the southern terminus of the Nanking-Hsuchow railway opposite Nanking across the Yangtze river. These government troops are said to be encountering the communists along a line from Chingpaling to Tingyuan.

Nationalist military quarters pointed out that the communist force in this small area did not total more than 20,000 and was not likely to constitute any real danger to Nanking.

To the north of Chingpaling 120 miles a major battle has broken out along a 45 mile front between Suhsien and Linpi. The main fighting is raging 10 miles south and southeast of Suhsien, a key rail city, and 45 miles south of Hsuchow which the government forces have thus far been unable to recapture.

3 In Family Die of Fumes

MARIETTA—(UP)—A coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned today in the asphyxiation of Mrs. Edward Schoppner jr., 28, and her two children in their home near here.

Their bodies were found by the husband when he returned from work yesterday. Schoppner said his wife's body was slumped in a chair in the living room. The bodies of the two children, Eddie, 8, and Kay, 2, and the family dog were on the floor at her feet.

The gas burner in the room was turned high and all windows in the house were closed.

SEEK CALM HOLDUP

DAYTON—(INS)—Dayton police searched today for a calm holdup man who rested his gun hand on the counter and said "I'll take it all," escaping with $480 cash from a snack shop.

Ryan Sees Dock War Ending

NEW YORK—(UP)—Unloading of strike-bound ships in New York harbor will be resumed early tomorrow if a majority of the 45,000 east coast longshoremen vote in favor of a proposed new contract today.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's association, said he expected his men to ratify the pact and end the 18-day walkout despite protests by isolated rebel locals.

In a meeting described by Ryan as "a communist attempt to keep the strike going," 2,000 Brooklyn dockers last night rejected by an unofficial show of hands the 13-cent hourly wage increase which union negotiators and shippers agreed to Thursday.

"They're a bunch that's trying to spread trouble," Ryan said. "Their action will have no effect on the membership vote."

But other union officials said the Brooklyn vote indicated many rank-and-file longshoremen still are dissatisfied with the settlement.

Nevertheless, 3,500 Philadelphia dockers jumped the gun and voted a day early in favor of the agreement. Men at Hampton Roads, Va., already have accepted a 10-cent agreement negotiated Nov. 9 and are virtually certain to accept this one.

CIO stevedores on the west coast vote today and tomorrow on a new contract that would bring them a 15-cent hourly boost and end the 87-day stoppage.

CARGOES ROTTED

As the voters were counted on both coasts, shippers prepared for resumption of the nation's foreign trade Many perishable cargoes had rotted during the walkouts, and on the east coast alone 200,000 sacks of overseas mail and $30,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid were heaped on deserted docks as 400 ships lay idle.

The strikes were estimated to have cost the nation $888,000,000 in lost wages, ruined cargoes and loss of trade.

Greek Head Near Death

Last Rites Administered

ATHENS —(UP)—Doctors early today abandoned hope for the life of Premier Themistocles Sofoulis and the last rites of the Greek Orthodox church were given the 88-year-old Liberal leader.

Attending physicians said it was only a question of how long Sofoulis' greatly weakened heart can stand up under the strain that has been imposed upon it by an attack of acute edema of the lungs.

The aged premier, who has ruled an uneasy coalition government since September, 1947, may live for only a few hours or perhaps for a full day, doctors said.

The cabinet was summoned into emergency session and King Paul was notified, as well as members of the American and British missions to Greece.

Sofoulis was stricken by a heart attack last Wednesday night in his office and has never been moved because of his precarious condition. His office was converted into a sickroom.

"I know I am on the threshold of death," Sofoulis said this morning. Later he lost consciousness. A medical bulletin at 8 a. m. said his condition continued to deteriorate. His daughter remained at his bedside.

Cut Gas Supply To Akron Homes

AKRON - (UP)— Three Akron families today resorted to antiquated heating methods after the East Ohio Gas company shut off gas supplies to their newly-installed furnace units.

The company said the gas flow to the homes was halted because the owners did not have installation permits for the gas heating equipment It added that similar action would be taken against an estimated 100 Akron homeowners in compliance with the ban on further gas conversions determined last summer by the Ohio Public Utilities commission.

2 Arrested In Wave Of Thefts

Pair Operated In Mansfield

Arrest of two men by Columbus police was believed today to have broken up a state-wide shoplifting ring whose operations extended to Mansfield.

Two Columbus men are held in connection with the theft of merchandise valued at more than $2,000 during the past seven months in more than a dozen Ohio cities.

Columbus police told the News-Journal today the loot included a woman's silver fox coat, two men's suits, and possibly other articles, believed to have been taken here between May 1 and 15. The suspects did not identify the Mansfield stores where the articles were stolen.

Columbus police said John Matthews, 20, and William Collins, 19, both of Columbus were held in the city jail there on grand larceny charges. A third Columbus man was questioned and released.

Included in the loot were radios, dresses, suits, fur coats and other merchandise reportedly stolen in stores throughout the state since last May.

RADIOS RECOVERED

Included in the loot recovered were 14 radios, but no determination has been made if any were taken in Mansfield.

Police said the men operated by walking into a store with their coats over their shoulders. They would then grab anything they find and walk out, he said.

In statements to Columbus police Matthews and Collins admitted thefts in Zanesville, Mansfield, Nelsonville, Jackson, Athens, Marion, Mt. Vernon, Loudonville, Wooster, Canton, Dayton, Middletown, Washington C. H., London, Circleville, Chillicothe and Columbus.

The ring was uncovered last week when Hill and Matthews were arrested in Chillicothe and charged with stealing a suit there. They were bound over to the grand jury and released on bond. Columbus police arrested them when it was learned they had disposed of some of the loot there.

Columbus detectives said the two admitted that most of the stolen goods were sold to a businessman and a sportsman there, although some of it was sold to friends and taxi drivers.

CIO Launches New Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)— The CIO executive board pushes the starting button today for what Philip Murray calls "the mightiest organizing crusade" in American history.

Riding into his ninth year as CIO president, Murray demanded a campaign of this size yesterday as the CIO convention adjourned. The first step was up to the executive board.

The convention gave to the board the power to take whatever action may be "appropriate and necessary" to organize workers in fields where CIO unions have failed to do the job. Many CIO leaders expected the board today to hand this enormous power over to President Murray, Secretary-Treasurer James Carey, and the nine CIO vice presidents. All those officers were re-elected yesterday without a peep of opposition.

False Teeth Bar Draftee

County Meets Only Fourth of Quota

Richland county, yesterday, supplied only one man—three short of its quota—to the peacetime draft. A second man who had successfully passed his pre-induction physical examination was ruled out at the last minute when it was found he had false teeth.

The county's sole contribution to the peacetime preparedness effort is Hollis William Ward, 24, who roomed at 325 North Main street.

Yesterday afternoon he was sworn into the army at the Mansfield induction center along with four Morrow countians.

The lone Mansfielder represents 25 per cent of the November quota originally set for the city. The local draft board was able to find only three acceptable for military service. The induction of one was postponed. The false teeth kept a second one out. Ward got by.

Ward came here two years ago from McArthur, O. and went to work as an assembler in the Westinghouse plant. He missed being caught in the wartime draft because he was underweight. He became eligible for the new draft by gaining 20 pounds.

In a routine familiar to countless young and middle-aged men, Ward went through the process of transition from a civilian to a soldier at the induction center yesterday.

First he was told about the importance of his induction and the steps in his processing were explained. He was given a final physical inspection, was interviewed, and filled out all the forms involved in entering the army. He was given an opportunity to ask questions pertaining to the organization he is due to spend 21 months in.

After a check of his records he was sworn in along with four other men inducted from surrounding communities. He was then fingerprinted and assigned to a hotel to await his departure this morning.

Asked how he felt about getting in the army, Ward said philosophically, "It doesn't make much difference to me. I've been expecting to be drafted."

The other four men sworn in at the induction center yesterday were Gerald Roth, 23, and Harold Keaton, 21, of Marengo, Harold Heacock, 23, of Cardington; and Ralph Steele, 20, of Sparta. They were slated to go to Fort Knox with Ward.

MacArthur Eases Rule

TOKYO, — (AP) — General MacArthur's headquarters, still refusing to let newsmen witness the execution of Hideki Tojo and six other war criminals, relaxed his position ever so slightly today

Col M. P. Echols, MacArthur's publicity chief, agreed, on the importuning of correspondents, to release "as soon as possible" a bulletin after the hangings are secretly carried out at Sugamo prison

Details will follow, Echols said, as soon afterwards as they can be "prepared in the form of a typed release." The previous plan called for release of the news at 10 a. m (8 p m. EST. The previous date) regardless of when the men were hanged.

Previously, MacArthur had refused to permit even one newsman to witness the hangings, although the army in the execution of top German Nazis permitted a "pool" man representing the major news services to attend those executions.

Clear Skies Back Again

After an interlude of rain yesterday, the weatherman came back today with sunshine and crisp temperatures like Mansfielders enjoyed Thanksgiving day.

But it won't last long, he warned. Sunday will be cloudy and colder with rain or snow due by night

Rainfall in the city area totaled .66 of an inch yesterday and last night. Skies cleared during the night.

Low temperature this morning was 33, but the mercury had climbed to 41 by noon.

ECA Given Green Light

Truman Approves Faster Spending

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Economic Cooperation administration had a green light from President Truman today to speed up spending for European recovery.

Congress originally gave the Marshall Plan agency $5,055,000,000 to carry it through its first 15 months. But it authorized the president to let the agency spend everything in 12 months if he considered such action necessary.

ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman told the president in a letter dated Oct. 29 that he thought general recovery in Europe would benefit more by accelerated spending now.

Mr. Truman agreed late yesterday that the "pressing needs" of Europe dictated such a course. His action clears the way for Hoffman to ask the new congress for a deficiency appropriation of $1,250,000,000 for the April-June period.

Of the original ECA appropriation, Congress earmarked $1,000,000,000 for loans, the rest for grants Of the $4,055,000,000 set aside for grants, or free recovery aid, ECA already has authorized $3,787,135,899.

24 Pickets Arrested

COLUMBUS, —(UP)—Sheriff's deputies arrested 24 pickets and two union organizers today following a brief skirmish in front of the strike-bound American Zinc Oxide Company plant in which the automobile of a worker was overturned

The outbreak was the first in the four-month-old strike that began when the company refused to bargain with the international mine, mill and smelter workers (CIO) because its international officers failed to sign anti-communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley law

Sheriff Ralph J Paul said the skirmish occurred when Carl Buckenberger, maintenance man, drove up to the gate and prepared to enter the plant.

"Nobody is going through this line," one of the pickets warned Buckenberger. The picket, Buckenberger said, then shouted to the other strikers: "Let's turn his car over."

The sheriff's office dispatched 25 deputies to the scene as soon as it received word of the flare-up and the demonstration was brought under control within a half hour. Columbus police were called to furnish transportation to the county jail for the arrested men.

Ambassador Resigns

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Venezuelan ambassador to the United States has resigned. Since the government which appointed him was overthrown this week, Ambassador Gonzalo Carnevali said last night, the resignation of its representative in Washington was necessary "to avoid wrong interpretations on the dignity of his position here."

Henry F. Byrd In Serious Condition

Henry F. Byrd, 27-year-old Mansfield musician, was shot three times last night during a family quarrel at 235 Wood street, police said.

Police arrested Byrd's father-in-law, Orland T. Champion, 54, of the Wood street address, in connection with the shooting.

Officers said Byrd was shot twice in the chest and in the right arm with a .22-caliber revolver. He was in serious condition today in General hospital. The shooting occurred about 8:40 p. m. in Champion's upstairs bedroom.

According to police, Champion tried to force Byrd to leave his bedroom where the argument was in progress and when the latter refused to leave, Champion shot him.

Byrd, his wife, and their five-year-old son live with the Champions, her parents. Police said the son, Ronald, told his father Champion had called Byrd a bad name. Byrd then went to the father-in-law's room to discuss the matter, officers said.

Mrs. Ruby Champion, the victim's mother-in-law, reported the shooting to police.

Upon their arrival, police said Champion admitted the shooting and gave his gun to the officers. He then led the way to the bedroom where Byrd was found on the floor with bullet wounds in his right chest, left chest, and right arm. He was removed to General hospital in the police ambulance.

Police withheld filing of charges against Champion pending completion of their investigation and a report on Byrd's condition.

Byrd's condition was reported as "fair" by the hospital today.

WIFE AT CHURCH

In the house at the time of the shooting were Mr. and Mrs. Champion, Byrd, and his son. Byrd's wife, Betsy Jane was at church during the trouble.

Champion is employed as a compositor and pressman at the Richland Printing company. Byrd does not have a regular job, but plays a guitar in a band here, police said.

The gun used in the shooting was a .22 caliber police positive revolver, police announced.

Byrd was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., and came to Mansfield upon his discharge from the army in 1945. He had previously lived in Lafayette, Ga.

Extra Grid Show Seats Go On Sale

Banquet Committee Extends Deadline

Although the original quota of seats for the 13th annual News-Journal football banquet was sold out at 5 p. m. last night, arrangements are being made for a limited extension of the seating capacity. These additional dinner and show tickets will be available until Monday noon.

The banquet, honoring the football teams of Mansfield Senior and Madison high schools, will be staged Monday at 6:45 p. m. at the Richland Recreation Center. No tickets will be available at the Richland Monday night.

Harvey Anderson, manager of the Recreation Center and banquet officials, agreed this morning to extend the ticket deadline. Price of the dinner and "four star" entertainment program is $2.50

Including the coaches, players and managers, more than 400 persons are already scheduled to attend the Monday festivities.

Officials still label many of the fete features "top-drawer secrets," but they keep muttering, "pigs squealing across the floor," "chickens roosting in women's hats".

Committeemen have been working hard on the entertainment angles of the banquet and the "best show ever" is promised. One official last night said that attempts were being made to sign a former four-time All-America to aid Cleveland's Dick Kroesen with the toastmaster duties.

K. L. "Tug" Wilson, former Northwestern athletic director and now commissioner of athletics for the Western Conference, is the principal speaker. Other speakers include: Dave Templeton, 1948 Ohio State football captain and Jeff DeHaven, Sandusky high school football coach.

Tickets may be purchased at the News-Journal information desk or from Bill Daugherty, Tappan Stove; Phil Hergatt, Blue Goose tavern; John Schroeder, Mansfield Tire; Pete Zeides, Westinghouse or the Fox Jewelry store.

Diapers, Baby Bottles Sure Rowdy Cure

BOSTON—(AP)—A little baby treatment - diapers and all — is the thing to curb rowdyism and vandalism. Judge John H. Connelly suggested the treatment might put an end to Thanksgiving day football brawl which were numerous in greater Boston over the holiday.

He explained in a post-holiday interview that his court had excellent results with the treatment.

It consists of sentencing the rowdies to live the lives of babies for 24 hours during which they wear diapers drink from nipples bottles, and play in a baby-pen He said no one ever subjected to the "cure" came back to his juvenile court.

Reds Flay U.N. Group

PARIS — (AP) — Russian Delegate Andrei Vishinsky today derisively called U. N. investigators in the Balkans "amateur Sherlock Holmesses."

Vishinsky also repeated before the General assembly his charges that the U. N. special committee on the Balkans (UNSCOB) based its report on "garbage."

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minster made the "garbage" charge previously in efforts to discredit the evidence gathered by the commission to the effect that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were aiding the Greek guerrillas.

Waving his arms and at times pounding the table, the Russian shouted the report was based on "distortion, falsification and bad faith." Sarcastically, he said the investigators "dabbled in detective work."

Christmas Lights Turned On In City

Central Park Becomes Fairyland

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Christmas came to Mansfield last night when the lights went on in Central park, changing the park into a holiday fairyland.

Despite the rain, hundreds of Christmas shoppers were on downtown streets when the Christmas lights were turned on for the first time this year.

The park decorations are all in the traditional Christmas colors, red and green. Red and green lights glittered through the mist on ropes of laurel strung overhead. Even the bulbs in street lights around the park had been changed to red and green.

Stars made of Christmas greens outlined with white lights sparkled as they hung at intervals from the overhead laurel ropes.

At each of the eight entrances to the park a white arbor festooned with green had been erected. At four of the entrances lighted Santa Claus faces in Christmas wreaths greeted Mansfielders.

In the northwest corner of the park a 30-foot Christmas tree was decorated with lighted red and green balls and Christmas bells.

The fountain in the center of the park has undergone a transformation, too. Ropes of Christmas greens interspersed with electric bulbs covered the fountain so that it looked like a huge Christmas bell.

The park decorations are sponsored by the Retail Merchants association and are made possible by contributions of member businesses.

The park will be lighted each evening from now through New Years.

Truman's Qualifying Statements Make Country's Future Brighter

AT THIS distance from the recent solemn referendum, the face of the future is less monstrous than it was the morning after. The snarl of President Truman's threatening remarks to the tail-gate gatherings, a running fire which moved Bernard Baruch to call him a rude, uncouth, ignorant man, has been softened by his own qualifications published through his claque at Key West and Washington.

Other motivated news tends to calm frightened Republicans and others who took Mr. Truman at his word.

It was his thespian hatefulness that put him over and scared the opposition. He acted like Hitler and when the curtain fell he wasn't mad at nobody.

The Taft-Hartley law will be erased only for the partisan political reason that it is a noble monument to the integrity and courage of two Republicans who are, in a manner of speaking, too good for this world.

The Truman substitute will start by re-enacting the most urgent reforms pioneered by Taft and Hartley and eventually will accumulate the others.

At the end of the campaign the only provision of Taft-Hartley which was still in debate was the forbiddance of the closed shop.

* * *

ETHICS aside, Mr. Truman showed up as an amazingly persuasive ham, for he shook this decidedly hygienic law before the public for two months and, by the very rasp of his voice, made it seem awful without once discussing any of its provisions.

That was great acting. In fact, it was this startling stage performance of a man who had begun with the halting speech of a high school elecutionist that now gives many a citizen new confidence in him as a game, resourceful Spelvin.

What else can the little guy do? Dwarfed by the double-domes of Harvard Law, Mr. Truman personified the awkward middlewestern culture which had been ridiculed for 30 years by the same proto-communist papers that cultivate him now.

He was the kind who would put ginger ale in red liquor and wear a green dinner jacket with a button flower of purple feathers. You saw him at the country club in small Ohio towns and in West Palm Beach, but never at the Breakers across Lake Worth.

Ten years ago Harry S. Truman, of Kansas City, would have been turned off at the door of Bradley's gambling house at Palm Beach as a Babbitt with a sweaty little roll of vacation money who belonged in a sawdust joint.

It would have been a great political experience to see Truman in a fight with Roosevelt in his prime, for when the bell rang and he found himself alone with Dewey he suddenly was able to call up a rattle of repartee smelling of sweat that would have been a credit to Huey P. Long.

Roosevelt, we were to learn, had no true gift of oratory but spoke recitations. Only recently the fact was revealed that Father Coughlin wrote the historic passage about the money changers and the temple in the first inaugural elocution.

Rejected by the Republican convention, Senator Taft nevertheless came through the campaign the best Republican and one of the great men of his time.

Taft saw Dewey chisel in 1944 when he endorsed the Wagner Act against his convictions in a poor appeal for the favor of Sidney Hillman's Hitlerian machine. In 1948, Mr. Dewey had to crawl—or better, creep—to Taft's position.

OSR Hospital Bids Top Estimate

$464,144 Asked for Structure

State Figure Was $330,000

Low bids presented to the state welfare department in Columbus yesterday for construction of a 70-bed hospital at the Mansfield reformatory exceeded the state's estimate by $133,226.

The state's estimate for the overall job was $330,918. The low bids, however, totaled $464,144.

Low bidder on the general construction contract was the Mountaineer Contracting company, of Pittsburgh, which has a Mansfield office. That company's bid was $354,233. The state estimate for general construction was $234,213.

Current bids were for a three-story hospital. Original plans were to build a four-story, but the earlier bids also exceeded the estimates.

The new hospital is needed to replace a 135-bed institution. It will be located on the south side of the courtyard, inside the reformatory walls.

To be built of brick and steel, the hospital will have a stone and glass brick entrance.

6 In Galion Family Hurt In Accident

Parents Suffer Serious Injuries

GALION — Wilbur Flynn Thomas, 54, Cincinnati truck driver was killed and a Galion man and his wife injured seriously and their four children bruised in a truck-auto collision between Ashley and Delaware yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Switzer who reside at 820 West Church street, here, were en route to Columbus with their children when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Switzer suffered a fractured pelvis, cuts and bruises, and Mr. Switzer has fractured ribs and possible brain concussion. The four children suffered body bruises. Their car was almost a complete wreck. The family was taken to Jane Case hospital, Delaware, and later in the day brought to City hospital here in the Snyder ambulance.

According to reports, Thomas was going north and attempted to pass two autos. When he was unable to do it he slowed down in an effort to get back in the line of traffic when the truck swerved and turned over in the road.

The truck still was sliding when the Switzer car approached from the north. Switzer was unable to avoid hitting the truck. Two servicemen who had been riding with the trucker escaped injury.

The Switzer family is under the care of his brother, Dr. Malcolm Switzer, Galion physician. Dr. Wray Davies, Delaware coroner, said Thomas was killed instantly. He suffered a broken neck and crushed chest. His Cincinnati address was at 4825 Winter street.

Farmers File For Payment

Triple-A Starts Work On Applications

Work on applications for soil conservation payments to Richland county farmers has been started by the county Triple-A office.

Averaging about $25 per farmer, the money will be paid from federal funds set up for conservation work under the Triple-A program.

Payments are made on the basis of conservation practices carried out by the participating farmer. Practices include fertilization of pasture land, construction of drainage ditches, and contour plowing and seeding.

After the applications are filed here with the Triple-A office, they are reviewed in Columbus and then sent to the general accounting office. Payment is made through a disbursing office in Columbus. It takes about two months to clear the applications for payment, the Triple-A office estimated.

Fast Action Demanded

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Truman has told key legislators he expects prompt action on his program when the new Congress meets, it was disclosed today.

An administration source said Mr. Truman is ready to insist on the legislative blueprint which he laid before the voters in his successful campaign for election.

Because of his insistence, the Senate Democratic policy committee will meet right after Christmas to begin planning a specific program and to draft strategy for getting the 81st Congress organized quickly.

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin has a staff of lawyers already at work on suggestions for a new labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley act. Repeal of this act is slated to be one of the first orders of business when Congress convenes Jan. 3.

On foreign policy matters, too, the tempo was stepped-up although members aren't slated to meet for another six weeks.

Fire Engine, Car Collide

A fire truck from the No. 2 station and a car driven by Richard S. Barr, 34 Western avenue, were involved in a minor accident Thursday, police records showed today.

Barr's car was struck in the right rear fender by the truck driven by Fireman Richard Theaker as it sped to extinguish a grass fire at the north edge of the fairgrounds at 1:45 p. m.

The motorist told police that he did not hear the sirens as he approached the intersection of Bowman and Harker streets, coming north on Bowman.

When he finally did, he said, he realized it was too late to stop and he kept on going, trying to beat the engine across the intersection. No one was injured.

'Hex' By Murderer Claims Fifth Life

TACOMA, Wash.—(UP)—Jake Bird must have smiled to himself as he sat in his cell in the Pierce county jail today.

And if the 46-year-old condemned man really believed he had occult powers, he probably started concentrating on his next victim, the sixth since he put the hex on his prosecutors.

Just a little less than a year ago, Dec. 6, 1947, Jake stood up before Judge E. D. Hodge and heard the jurist sentence him to be hanged Jan. 16, 1948, for the axe murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt and her 17-year-old daughter.

"Wait and see," Jake told Detective Lt. Sherman Lyons. "You policemen and judges will be settin' and waitin' at the pearly gates a long time before I roll up."

A month later, Judge Hodge was stricken with a heart attack and died. Friends said he had been in excellent health right up until his death.

On Jan. 14, two days before his scheduled execution, Jake was granted a stay by Gov. Mon C. Wallgren so he could be questioned about some unsolved murders in the midwest.

Undersheriff Joe Karpach questioned him. Before the month was out, Karpach died—of a heart attack. Chief Court Clerk Ray Scott died the same month, also of a heart attack. He had been in office five years and never missed a day because of illness.

'HEX' FORGOTTEN

For seven months the hex was forgotten. Jake appealed to the state supreme court. The conviction was upheld.

Last Sept. 28, Detective Lyons, to whom Bird made his threat, died of a heart attack. The fifth person connected with the trial died last night. He was J. W. Selden, 75, the attorney who defended Bird.

At the time, Selden had asked to be relieved of the defense assignment.

"My heart does not beat in sympathy for this man, who fixes his life as more important than that of others," Selden explained.

The court ordered him to finish the trial. He suffered a heart attack in his office last night and died within minutes.

Agree On Land Price

Owners of a parcel of land in Franklin township required by the county for the new section of State Route 13 around Mansfield airport, have agreed to accept an award of $1,800 for their property, a Common Pleas court entry showed today.

The entry shows that Lillian Noser has title in the property, subject to a land contract in favor of Ross and Ithel Adkins. The three did not appeal from the award made by the commissioners.

The court ruled that $1,265 go to Earl Noser, acting attorney for Lillian and David D. Noser, and $535 to the Adkins.

Owners of six other properties required for the new highway section have filed appeals in Common Pleas court from the awards set up by the commissioners for compensation and damages.

Preliminary work on the road was started last week.

Yule Chimney Goes Up As Volunteers Seek Yule Funds

This year's first Volunteers of America Christmas chimney was placed in the business district this morning, along with three Salvation Army kettles, to collect funds for the organization's Christmas work.

The chimney will be out every day, during the hours that stores are open, until Christmas to collect funds to be used for Christmas baskets for needy families, Lt. Maj. R. L. Gutterman, commander of the Volunteers, said.

The Volunteers expect to place two more chimneys on downtown streets later in the holiday season.

Funds for the first chimney will be solicited by Mrs. Henry Wagner, a newcomer to the Volunteers organization.

The Volunteers set no goal for the amount they hope to raise with the annual Christmas chimneys, Gutterman said. Last year the group raised approximately $400 by this means and sent out 85 Christmas baskets. This year the Volunteers plan to send a larger number of baskets, Gutterman said.

Walter White Says:

Laney Seeks Way Back Into Party

No northern newspaper, so far as I have been able to learn, published the story. But it is one of such possible significance that it deserves wider distribution.

Governor Ben Laney of Arkansas was one of the principal figures in the late Dixiecrat party. He presided over the original bolters' meeting in the Benjamin Franklin hotel in Philadelphia on the Sunday before the opening of the Democratic National convention last June. So vitriolic was his attack upon President Truman and the civil rights program and so vehement his demand that General Eisenhower or anyone else except Truman be nominated, the rebels wanted to nominate him for the presidency.

At the subsequent Dixiecrat convention in Birmingham, Governor Laney stepped aside to let Governor Thurmond of South Carolina head the bolters' ticket. He gave that ticket vigorous support in an effort to defeat President Truman. Thus the news dispatch in a recent issue of the Memphis Commercial Appeal should be read against Governor Laney's background. It reads:

"LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 4.—Governor Laney Thursday declared President Truman's civil rights proposals should be enacted into law immediately. One of the original leaders of the States' Rights Democrats movement and one of the President's most bitter critics, the Governor said:

'I think the vote cast Tuesday is a clear indication of the development of thought in the country along the lines of what we have been accepting as a liberalization of government.

'Truman's election means a change in government and I think the administration ought to have a chance to put its (civil rights) proposals in effect and see how the people like it.'"

This statement has aroused furious comment. One influential American expressed disgust, characterizing the post-election statement as an attempt to sneak back into the Democratic party to obtain patronage. "I'd have had more respect for him and other Dixiecrats if they had the courage of the convictions they voiced so belligerently prior to the election," he commented.

"ARKANSAS TRAVELER"

But even more belligerent has been the reaction of a number of southern newspapers like the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser. Still flailing away at the civil rights program which it calls the "civil disturbance program," the Advertiser blasts Governor Laney as "the Arkansas Traveler" who shuttles back and forth between the Democrats and the Dixiecrats.

But there may be a much deeper significance to Governor Laney's statement. Practical politicians in the South have seen their revolt backfire by demonstrating that the Democratic Party can win without the South. Some of the more obdurate Southerners are busily engaged at present in an attempt to form a coalition with conservative Northern Republicans in an effort to block through filibusters civil rights legislation.

They hope to continue to obtain economic benefits for the South despite the disastrous rout on election day. Even the presumably liberal Senator Lister Hill of Alabama promises to "continue to oppose the civil rights program just as vigorously as we have in the past, and I have every reason to believe we will be as successful in defeating this legislation." Senator Hill bases his belief on the hope that "Southern Senators and Congressmen with more important committee assignments under the Democratic majority would be more influential generally at the next session."

But it seems likely that Governor Laney is more accurately a spokesman for the South than Senator Hill. It is now a well-known fact that the Dixiecrats were bitterly disappointed that their appeals for a south-wide rebellion fell dismally flat.

There is a lesson which the north as well as south can profitably learn from the debacle. It is that the country at large should stop taking seriously and being frightened by the political bigots. They have lost caste everywhere with the exception of a very few backward rural areas, such as in Georgia, where Herman Talmadge found enough votes to get himself elected Governor. The millennium has not yet arrived in the South. But the days of fear and of vicious appeals to racial and religious bigotry are nearing their end.

Recommend Tax Boost

CLEVELAND —(UP)—A Cleveland auto club committee has recommended financing of the local share of Ohio's freeway system by collecting an extra penny on the state gasoline tax.

Such action, the finance committee of the Auto club's transpiration panel said, would lift from taxpayers of cities, towns and counties any need to raise their one-fourth share of freeway costs by local levies.

The committee, after six months research, recommended collection of the extra cent by the state. All of this money would then be returned to the county in which it was collected.

The Auto club group also suggested concentrating all the money on the national system of interstate highways until that need had been met. The rest of the federal aid highway system would be given second claim on the money.

Nature's Speed Demons Lose Title to Man's Inventions

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Rocket-propelled man easily walks off with the world's speed record of 1,000 m.p.h. Jet man follows closely with 670.98. Third place is taken by the frigate bird, which travels at 261 miles per hour.

Honors are won also by the falcon at 200 miles per hour and the dragon fly, an insect which travels at nearly 60. The deer botfly almost cost man his record. It was credited with a speed of 800 m.p.h. until scientific experiment showed that at 64, the insect would become invisible and at greater speeds it would "burn up."

Aquatic man is a mere octopus. He is able to travel at the rate of four miles per hour by the aid of four appendages, barely keeping pace with a sea creature which is handicapped by as many more. Both are left far behind by the swordfish, fastest thing on fins, at nearly 70 m.p.h.

Man, the land animal, can do 22 miles an hour. To the hunting leopard who makes 70, and the antelope who registers 60, that is a disdainfully slow pace. In fact, the antelope looks with scorn on the race horse which clocks off at 48 m.p.h. The lazy thing is almost as slow as a man.

Even man, however, must concede the sloth prize to the burrowing earthworm, which is slower than the snail. The snail travels at 23 inches an hour.

GI Art Student Finds Self Torn Between Love and Cash

BOSTON —(INS)— A GI art student was torn between two desires today—to get sufficient funds to complete his education or keep a painting of a beautiful girl in a red velvet dress.

Bernie Martin, 21, of Houston, Texas, could not resist paying $5 for a picture that haunted him in the window of a second-hand store in Newark, N. J., where he attended school.

Friends more versed in art looked at his painting of the handsome girl in a brilliant red dress of velvet and a Flemish lace collar and told him it probably was worth a lot more than $5.

Martin hitchhiked to Boston after being urged to show it to officials at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Upon his arrival, he was told the portrait was a product of the French school of painting, dating back to the early 1800's and "appears to be worth at least $1,000." He was told it would take a couple of weeks to determine its true value.

At first Martin was in his glory, then he didn't know what to do. He said today:

"I don't know whether I want to sell it or not now. The money would carry me through school just fine. But the worst of it is I have fallen in love with the picture of that 19th century girl. She's almost alive to me. She's beautiful. I've got her hanging in my furnished room."

News Stories Inform Public Of Social Security Rights

Newspapers of the Mansfield area are playing an important part in making the public aware of social security benefits, according to Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Social Security office here.

Blonston said that almost every day his office receives one or more letters enclosing a clipping from a daily or weekly newspaper. People also bring the clippings into the office, he said.

According to Blonston, readers ask the following question about the clippings! "Does this mean me" and "Can I get benefits?"

He said that in a high per centage of the cases his office is able to tell people that it does mean them and that they can get benefits both for themselves and their families.

Blonston told of a Mansfield woman who recently came to his office. She was the widow of an industrial worker and the mother of two children. She read a story in the News-Journal on survivors' benefits and decided to inquire at the Mansfield office.

She told Blonston that she had not realized until she read the article that there were survivors' benefits under the Social Security act. She had already lost several hundred dollars because she failed to file a claim immediately after her husband's death.

However, the woman is now receiving monthly benefits which she would have continued to lose if she had not read the article, Blonston said.

Blonston said that his office has long recommended that every worker tell his family about survivors' benefits under Social Security, and that the family get in touch with the nearest office in case of the worker's death. However, he added, there are still a large number of widows and other survivors who do not realize their rights until a newspaper article calls it to their attention.

Walter White Says:

Laney Seeks Way Back Into Party

No northern newspaper, so far as I have been able to learn, published the story. But it is one of such possible significance that it deserves wider distribution.

Governor Ben Laney of Arkansas was one of the principal figures in the late Dixiecrat party. He presided over the original bolters' meeting in the Benjamin Franklin hotel in Philadelphia on the Sunday before the opening of the Democratic National convention last June. So vitriolic was his attack upon President Truman and the civil rights program and so vehement his demand that General Eisenhower or anyone else except Truman be nominated, the rebels wanted to nominate him for the presidency.

At the subsequent Dixiecrat convention in Birmingham, Governor Laney stepped aside to let Governor Thurmond of South Carolina head the bolters' ticket. He gave that ticket vigorous support in an effort to defeat President Truman. Thus the news dispatch in a recent issue of the Memphis Commercial Appeal should be read against Governor Laney's background. It reads:

"LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 4.—Governor Laney Thursday declared President Truman's civil rights proposals should be enacted into law immediately. One of the original leaders of the States' Rights Democrats movement and one of the President's most bitter critics, the Governor said:

'I think the vote cast Tuesday is a clear indication of the development of thought in the country along the lines of what we have been accepting as a liberalization of government.

'Truman's election means a change in government and I think the administration ought to have a chance to put its (civil rights) proposals in effect and see how the people like it.'"

This statement has aroused furious comment. One influential American expressed disgust, characterizing the post-election statement as an attempt to sneak back into the Democratic party to obtain patronage. "I'd have had more respect for him and other Dixiecrats if they had the courage of the convictions they voiced so belligerently prior to the election," he commented.

"ARKANSAS TRAVELER"

But even more belligerent has been the reaction of a number of southern newspapers like the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser. Still flailing away at the civil rights program which it calls the "civil disturbance program," the Advertiser blasts Governor Laney as "the Arkansas Traveler" who shuttles back and forth between the Democrats and the Dixiecrats.

But there may be a much deeper significance to Governor Laney's statement. Practical politicians in the South have seen their revolt backfire by demonstrating that the Democratic Party can win without the South. Some of the more obdurate Southerners are busily engaged at present, in an attempt to form a coalition with conservative Northern Republicans in an effort to block through filibusters civil rights legislation.

They hope to continue to obtain economic benefits for the South despite the disastrous rout on election day. Even the presumably liberal Senator Lister Hill of Alabama promises to "continue to oppose the civil rights program just as vigorously as we have in the past, and I have every reason to believe we will be as successful in defeating this legislation." Senator Hill bases his belief on the hope that "Southern Senators and Congressmen with more important committee assignments under the Democratic majority would be more influential generally at the next session."

But it seems likely that Governor Laney is more accurately a spokesman for the South than Senator Hill. It is now a well-known fact that the Dixiecrats were bitterly disappointed that their appeals for a south-wide rebellion fell dismally flat.

There is a lesson which the north as well as south can profitably learn from the debacle. It is that the country at large should stop taking seriously and being frightened by the political bigots. They have lost caste everywhere with the exception of a very few backward rural areas, such as in Georgia, where Herman Talmadge found enough votes to get himself elected Governor. The millennium has not yet arrived in the South. But the days of fear and of vicious appeals to racial and religious bigotry are nearing their end.

GI Art Student Finds Self Torn Between Love and Cash

BOSTON —(INS)— A GI art student was torn between two desires today—to get sufficient funds to complete his education or keep a painting of a beautiful girl in a red velvet dress.

Bernie Martin, 21, of Houston, Texas, could not resist paying $5 for a picture that haunted him in the window of a second-hand store in Newark, N. J., where he attended school.

Friends more versed in art looked at his painting of the handsome girl in a brilliant red dress of velvet and a Flemish lace collar and told him it probably was worth a lot more than $5.

Martin hitchhiked to Boston after being urged to show it to officials at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Upon his arrival, he was told the portrait was a product of the French school of painting, dating back to the early 1800's and "appears to be worth at least $1,000." He was told it would take a couple of weeks to determine its true value.

At first Martin was in his glory, then he didn't know what to do. He said today:

"I don't know whether I want to sell it or not now. The money would carry me through school just fine. But the worst of it is I have fallen in love with the picture of that 19th century girl. She's almost alive to me. She's beautiful. I've got her hanging in my furnished room."

Turnover Slow and Gains Small At Market Opening

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market started out on an even keel today. A substantial number of issues were unchanged. Elsewhere small gains and losses were well mixed.

Turnover was at the customary slow weekend rate, with the ticker tape frequently coming to a halt.

U. S. Steel opened ⅛ point lower, along with General Motors, Boeing, and Sears Roebuck.

Allied Chemical gained ⅝ and higher prices were paid for Anaconda Copper, Sinclair Oil, and Union Pacific.

Recommend Tax Boost

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)—A Cleveland auto club committee has recommended financing of the local share of Ohio's freeway system by collecting an extra penny on the state gasoline tax.

Such action, the finance committee of the Auto club's transpiration panel said, would lift from taxpayers of cities, towns and counties any need to raise their one-fourth share of freeway costs by local levies.

The committee, after six months research, recommended collection of the extra cent by the state. All of this money would then be returned to the county in which it was collected.

The Auto club group also suggested concentrating all the money on the national system of interstate highways until that need had been met. The rest of the federal aid highway system would be given second claim on the money.

Knife-Throwing Wife In Error

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — Engaging her husband in a discussion of army strategy and methods of attack, Mrs. Louis Garaviglia displayed a 12-inch knife and declared she was an expert with it.

Her skeptical spouse pointed to spot two feet above his head and shouted, "Heigh ho, Silver," while his wife took aim and let fly.

She missed the target by exactly two feet, sending her mate to the hospital with a crease in his scalp.

NURSES GET $1 Raise

EAST LIVERPOOL — (AP) — Registered nurses here and in neighboring Salem will receive a pay increase of $1 a day Dec. 1, raising their daily pay to $10.

Hear Guest Speaker

Miss Heidy Schneider of Switzerland, will be the guest speaker at the worship service tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. at the First Evangelical UB church.

Miss Schneider is attending Oberlin college in preparation for returning to her native land or missionary work in other countries. She left Switzerland after the close of World War II and came to America.

At the evening service tomorrow, the men's chorus from Johnsville will sing. In addition the religious film, "Unfaithful Servant" will be shown. The services are open to the public, Rev. V. C. Stamets announced.

Nature's Speed Demons Lose Title to Man's Inventions

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Rocket-propelled man easily walks off with the world's speed record of 1,000 m.p.h. Jet man follows closely with 670.98. Third place is taken by the frigate bird, which travels at 261 miles per hour.

Honors are won also by the falcon at 200 miles per hour and the dragon fly, an insect which travels at nearly 60. The deer botfly almost cost man his record. It was credited with a speed of 800 m.p.h. until scientific experiment showed that at 64, the insect would become invisible and at greater speeds it would "burn up."

Aquatic man is a mere octopus. He is able to travel at the rate of four miles per hour by the aid of four appendages, barely keeping pace with a sea creature which is handicapped by as many more. Both are left far behind by the swordfish, fastest thing on fins, at nearly 70 m.p.h.

Man, the land animal, can do 22 miles an hour. To the hunting leopard who makes 70, and the antelope who registers 60, that is a disdainfully slow pace. In fact, the antelope looks with scorn on the race horse which clocks off at 48 m.p.h. The lazy thing is almost as slow as a man.

Even man, however, must concede the sloth prize to the burrowing earthworm, which is slower than the snail. The snail travels at 23 inches an hour.

File Murder Charge

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Police placed a charge of murder against Clarence Harding, 34, yesterday in connection with the death of James Manning. Lt. William Burks said Harding was accused of having "hit or pushed" Manning during an altercation two weeks ago.

News Stories Inform Public Of Social Security Rights

Newspapers of the Mansfield area are playing an important part in making the public aware of social security benefits, according to Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Social Security office here.

Blonston said that almost every day his office receives one or more letters enclosing a clipping from a daily or weekly newspaper. People also bring the clippings into the office, he said.

According to Blonston, readers ask the following question about the clippings! "Does this mean me" and "Can I get benefits?"

He said that in a high per centage of the cases his office is able to tell people that it does mean them and that they can get benefits both for themselves and their families.

Blonston told of a Mansfield woman who recently came to his office. She was the widow of an industrial worker and the mother of two children. She read a story in the News-Journal on survivors' benefits and decided to inquire at the Mansfield office.

She told Blonston that she had not realized until she read the article that there were survivors' benefits under the Social Security act. She had already lost several hundred dollars because she failed to file a claim immediately after her husband's death.

However, the woman is now receiving monthly benefits which she would have continued to lose if she had not read the article, Blonston said.

Blonston said that his office has long recommended that every worker tell his family about survivors' benefits under Social Security, and that the family get in touch with the nearest office in case of the worker's death. However, he added, there are still a large number of widows and other survivors who do not realize their rights until a newspaper article calls it to their attention.

Army-Navy Brawl Marks '48 Grid Finale

FAIR OR FOUL
by LAWTON CARVER
International News Service

NEW YORK—(INS)—Charley Trippi, the Chicago Cardinal backfield ace from Pittston, Pa., via University of Georgia, has proved himself to be worth all the money he cost.

The Golden Boy was slow building up a full head of steam in his professional debut last season, and looked like another high-priced bloomer until late in the season.

He was excused on the grounds that playing baseball with the Atlanta club during the summer sapped his strength. He then quit playing baseball and hired out as baseball coach at his alma mammy, Georgia.

It must have been that playing baseball slowed him up for football, if his performances this season, in contrast with last season, mean anything.

MAY BE BEST

He may be the best back in pro football today. If he's not, he's at least runnerup to Steve Van Buren, of the Philadelphia Eagles. Call it a toss-up, or string along with me in calling Trippi the most dazzling performer in the game now and among the all-time best.

He beat those Eagles in a clash this year with a pass to Mal Kutner for a running sweep for the winning touchdown.

In the playoff game for the National league championship last year he made two beautiful touchdown runs to help snare the victory for the Cardinals over the Eagles.

And he and Van Buren may get together in still another tussle before this year is out. At the moment the Cardinals and Eagles are leading their divisions in the race toward the playoff next month.

Besides being a great ballrunner, he has that triple threat versatility which is seldom seen these days, and a head to go with it. Buster Ramsey, the Cardinal guard, said of Trippi:

"He's got brains in his feet."

PLAYS LIKE COLLEGIAN

He blocks like a guy hustling for his letter and is a standout defensive player.

Yet, he's not one of those big rip-snorting professionals but a medium sized fellow of around 185 pounds—medium-sized for the racket he's in.

As a business man, he is somewhat better than Mortimer Snerd, too. They need make no plans for benefits when his playing days are over.

In the mid-west they will tell you that whatever he has acquired has been well spent. He has made the Cardinals the interesting team they are today. In fact, he's better than terrific.

Bowl Hopes Get Final Test Today

Bitter Rivals Wind-up Session

NEW YORK—(AP)—College football bows out with a bang today, with a score of major games headed by the colorful Army-Navy duel in Philadelphia before 102,000 persons and President Truman.

This is the final big college football afternoon of the 1948 season, although a handful of scattered engagements are on tap next Saturday.

While the Cadets and Middies engage in their annual brawl in the City of Brotherly Love for the honor of West Point and Annapolis, a lot of attention is going elsewhere.

This because several choice New Year's day bowl spots remain to be filled, and the lads who hope to grab off the rich prizes have a job to do first.

Georgia, for instance, is like a fly teetering on the rim of the Sugar Bowl. Georgia has to knock off an old bitter rival, Georgia Tech, at Athens in order to stay in the running. Sugar Bowl officials say the choice of teams for the New Orleans affair is expected to be announced tonight.

N. C. to SUGAR BOWL?

North Carolina, which winds up its schedule against Virginia at Charlottesville, may be in line for a Sugar Bowl bid, along with Oklahoma. The Sooners take on Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater.

Another tilt with the sugary flavor is Tulane versus Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

Any one of these, along with Oregon—which has ended its regular schedule — Michigan State, and Clemson, are under consideration also for possible trips to the Miami Orange Bowl, or the Dallas Cotton Bowl.

Southern Methodist, which already has clinched a Cotton Bowl berth, winds up its season against pesky Texas Christian at Dallas.

OREGON—SMU?

Nothing has come from Cotton Bowl authorities, or SMU concerning an opponent, but it looks like Oregon. Jim Aiken, Oregon head coach, left by plane for Dallas to see the Mustangs play TCU Dan Garza, Oregon end and co-captain, said flatly the Webfoots had been invited and were waiting Pacific Coast conference sanction to play.

Oregon finished its season last week with only one loss, that to Michigan, which has been voted the No. 1 team in the Associated Press nation-wide poll in recent weeks. Oregon lost out on the Rose Bowl to California, which meets Northwestern in the Pasadena classic Jan. 1.

Other late bowl developments included an announcement that the University of Missouri had accepted a bid to play in the 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 1. No opponent has been named, but Clemson was mentioned as a likely candidate.

Utah University players also voted to play in the Delta Bowl at Memphis New Year's day if invited. William and Mary already has accepted the Delta bid.

Unbeaten Clemson hopes to boost its bowl stock against Auburn at Mobile, Ala., today. Clemson still has another game, though with the Citadel at Charleston, S. C., next Saturday.

Michigan State's powerful Spartans who have walloped two west coast clubs—Oregon State and Washington State—take on another when they meet Santa Clara at San Francisco.

Another intersectional bout has Penn State seeking to regain some prestige from its Pitt upset in a game with Washington State at Tacoma, Wash.

The chief intersectional attraction, however, is the meeting of Notre Dame and Washington at South Bend, Ind.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(INS)—Two fabulous new Notre Dame football records waited to be written into the books today as the unbeaten Irish took the field against a vastly underdog University of Washington team.

One Irish victory, and gone would be the deathless Rockne marks of two decades ago. In their place would be two new standards—21 straight victories, 27 straight games without defeat.

THAT GRID CLASSIC—The annual Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia today takes the sports spotlight despite the fact Navy is having one of its worst seasons and Army is undefeated. However, records mean little in this ancient rivalry. The teams have played 48 times with Army out in front with 26 wins and three ties. Navy hasn't won since 1943.—(International)

'Cinderella' Bellville Cage Team Lacks Only Height

Six lettermen from the "cinderella" team of last year are back on the Bellville high basketball squad, hoping to repeat the magic which carried them to the county tournament championship.

Heighth will be the only thing lacking as the Blue Jays have the know-how in the four senior and two junior lettermen. Opportunity to pick capable replacements is also open to Coach Harry Regula as he has 36 boys trying for places on the squad.

Returning from last year are three forwards, Will Walker, Jim Fry and Fred Collins, all of whom stand five feet, nine inches tall. Center letterman is Bill L[illegible], a five-eleven senior, while at the guards Regula's experienced hands are Bill Balliett and Bill Smith, both five-six.

WON EVERY TIME

The soft-spoken skipper who has won or tied for championships with every team he has coached, has not yet named a starting lineup. He gives five non-lettermen a chance to yet break into the first-string crew. Regula's first coaching assignment was last year's surprising cage team, his second was a track team which won the county meet, and his third the football club which lost only its last game and tied with Loudonville and Millersburg for the Mohican league title.

Jim Gleason the high scoring football halfback is one of the quintet given a chance to crack the starting crew. Others are Bill Ridenour, Stan Bowers, John Stevens and, Jack Cunningham. The heighth of the team is in this crew, as Bowers and Stevens stand six-one and Cunningham six-two.

Bucyrus Grid Squad Feted By Boosters

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus high school's undefeated football team, 1948 Northern Ohio league champions, was feted last night when more than 400 fans turned out for a banquet, sponsored by the Redmen's Booster club at the high school.

Wesley Fesler, football coach at Ohio State, was the principal speaker. He also entertained the group with moving pictures of 1948 Buck games. Motion pictures of the Bucyrus-Bellevue game, which Bucyrus won, 20 to 13, also were shown.

Toastmaster was J. D. Sears. Bucyrus attorney and high school alumnus. Invocation was given by YMCA Secretary E. B. Hagaman.

Head Coach Al Pesek, who brought to the school this fall its first undisputed league football championship since 1925, presented varsity letters certificates to 20 players and reserve awards to six others.

Reserve certificates went to Juniors Jerry Walkins and Jack Peterman and Sophomores John Eppley, Ronnie Rarick, Norman Smith and Jack Witter.

A senior manager award was given Charles Pirnstil, assistant manager awards went to Ed Schott and Joe Eden and a trainer award to Dick Bumstead. Ernie Teynor also was awarded numerals.

Mothers of the players were guests and were introduced.

Miami's Players Ready for Vote On Bowl Choice

OXFORD—(AP)— Players on the Miami University football team will decide Monday whether or not to accept one of two invitations to bowl games. They have been invited to play at the Cigar Bowl, Tampa, Fla., and the Basin Bowl, at Odessa, Tex., New Year's day.

University authorities said no decision would be reached until the players return from their Thanksgiving holiday. They said they understood Hardin-Simmons would be the opponent at the Basin Bowl, which has its inaugural game Jan. 1, but did not know who might be the opponent at Tampa.

Miami, winning seven games, lost to Dayton University, 7-0, and tied with the University of Virginia this season.

Best Pro Grid Card Of Season On Sunday

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Tomorrow's pro football cards presents almost unlimited possibilities.

In three of the four divisional races, first-place berths may be clinched, or ties created.

The most intriguing game is the clash between the champion Cleveland Browns and the 49ers at San Francisco.

The Browns, who were all out to beat the Dons at Los Angeles two days ago, face their toughest test in three years in the All-America conference. If the Browns win, they will clinch the western title, but the 49ers can tie them for first place with a victory.

This department has a hunch that the 49ers will upset the champions, who have not lost a game all season.

BUFFALO UNDERDOG

In the eastern division of the junior circuit, the pace-setting Buffalo Bills, like the Browns, are coming off a hard Thanksgiving day game to take on the New York Yankees, who are tied with Baltimore for second place. The Yankees are picked to beat the Bills.

If that happens, and Baltimore also defeats Brooklyn, a triple tie among Buffalo, New York and Baltimore for first place would result.

If Buffalo wins and Baltimore loses, the Bills will clinch the eastern title.

However, Brooklyn is picked here to upset Baltimore. The improving Dodgers are at their peak. They cannot stop a good running attack but have an excellent defense against the forward pass, which is Baltimore's chief threat in the person of Y. A. Tittle.

Philadelphia can and should clinch the eastern title in the National Football league by beating Pittsburgh. And Chicago's Bears should defeat Washington and go into another tie with the Chicago Cardinals for first place in the western division.

The New York Giants are strong favorites over the Boston Yanks, and the Los Angeles Rams may beat Green Bay.

Lewis Slated For Big Spot

BOYES SPRINGS, Cal.—(INS)—To unsung Cliff Lewis tomorrow may go the job of filling the big shoes of Otto Graham, star quarterback of the Cleveland Browns and the All-America conference's most valuable player.

Still limping from a knee injury sustained in Thursday's battle with Los Angeles, Graham is an unlikely starter and probably will see little, if any, action tomorrow against the San Francisco 49ers.

Lewis, Graham's understudy for the past two seasons, will pilot the Browns if Graham is unable to play.

Bob Gaudio, star Cleveland offensive guard, also may miss tomorrow's game. His left ankle was severely sprained in the Los Angeles encounter.

Ara Parseghian and Edgar Jones, other Cleveland casualties, both should be ready by Sunday, however, Coach Paul Brown said yesterday.

Also back in top shape will be Cleveland's pass-catching duo of Mac Speedie and Dante Lavelli.

The Browns will journey to Kezar stadium in San Francisco tomorrow for the all-important clash.

Dave Templeton Named to Another All-Star Team

Dave Templeton, Ohio State football captain, who will appear at the News-Journal football banquet Monday, was given further honors today.

Templeton was given honorable mention on the All-Midwest team as picked by International News Service. He was given similar honors yesterday by the Associated Press and had previously been named on the second All Big-Nine team by all three major wire services.

Templeton is a former Mansfield Senior high school star. Only other Ohio State player named to the INS team was Joe Whisler, second team fullback. Hart of Denison, and DeMando of Baldwin-Wallace and Taseff of John Carroll were also given honorable mention.

Moose Trio Tops Among City Bowlers

Three Moose league bowlers stood at the top of today's bowling heap, holding the only honor roll series turned in on the local alleys last night.

Tony Santoro was the high man of the trio with a 243-181-212—636 mark. Harold Michaels spilled the pins for a 193-219-205—617, while C. Altman had 220-190-204 614.

Just missing the mark were Moose bowlers C. Henry, 596; J. Bernat, 590; A. Keefer, 585; and Orlie Grable, 575.

The Women of the Moose were led by Emma Frontz who had a 163-136-120—419. A, White posted 413 and Christine Zahn, 408.

★

G. Yarman scattered the maples in the Independent loop for a 161-221-181—581 count. Steve Mansfield had 535 and B. Lyons, 516, the only other men over the 500 mark.

★

Regardless of the below average scores of the men last night, one team in the Women's Commercial B league was doing all right. All-State Freight had three women over 500 including the league-leading 562 of Sis DeWeese. Hazel Hilborn fired 517 and Martha Dye, 504, for the other two high's on the All-State quint. Helen Wilhelm of Urschel Insurance was the only other league bowler to cross the 500 stripe.

All-State had team scores of 812-876-816—2504.

★

Lou Tridico's 213-185-177—575 led Westinghouse D leaguers. P. Brown was runnerup with 569 while J. Carr had 516.

★

Merle Leedy, the veteran baseball pitcher, led the Tappan Stove league with a 221 single game and a 545 series. Only one other man, Phil Stirtzinger, 504, went over the 500 mark. Foy Tuttle had 487.

★

A 206 and 533 by J. Rhoads led the Barnes Manufacturing league at Richland Recreation. Rudolph was runnerup with 485 while Ben Ballengee was ten pins below that figure.

Ohio Team Slated for Bowl Nod

ATLANTA, GA.—(INS)—Bowling Green State university appeared to be on the verge today of getting the nod from officials of the Tangerine Bowl. Although no announcement would be made until Monday regarding selections for the Orlando, Fla., football contest, bowl management intimated the Ohio club was No. 1 choice.

Gallorette Slated To Run Final Race

BOWIE, Md.—(AP)— Gallorette, the world's greatest money winning mare, was set to run her last race today, the $20,000 Bryan and O'Hara memorial which closes the current Bowie meet.

The six-year-old mare, owned by Mrs. Marie Moore, was up against a stiff overnight field of 13 in her effort to add to her record earnings of $445,535.

Rocky Graziano's Fighting Career Appears to Be Ended

PATERSON, N. J.—(INS)—The hectic, checkered boxing career of bad-boy Rocky Graziano today appeared to be at an end.

The former middleweight champion from Brooklyn was suspended indefinitely by the National Boxing association yesterday for his withdrawal from a fight with Fred Apostoli, scheduled for Oakland, Cal., next Wednesday night.

The suspension action first was taken by the California State Athletic commission, which notified Abe J. Greene, commissioner of the N.B.A. Greene announced at his home here that it would be automatic for the 40-odd member states of the association to uphold the California suspension.

The N.B.A. includes all boxing states except New York and Massachusetts. The New York commission banned Graziano last year for his failure to report three offers of fight-bribes. The Massachusetts commission, meanwhile, was expected to fall in line with the rest of the states since it has a working agreement with the New York commission and also is known to be seeking admission to the N.B.A.

Graziano flew back to New York from the west coast last week, where he already started training for the Apostoli fight. His only defense for the withdrawal was his mental "mix-up."

Greene also announced that Eddie Coco of New York, one of Graziano's managers who attended the fighter on the coast, was suspended indefinitely at the request of the California commission.

Both Graziano and Coco will be given a chance to plead their cases at a commission hearing at Los Angeles, Dec. 18, if they care to show reasons why their suspensions should not be indefinite.

Hold Last Rites For Hack Wilson

BALTIMORE —(AP)—Baltimore paid its last tribute today to one of the great sluggers of baseball, Hack Wilson.

Hundreds jammed into the Lutaw street funeral parlor to hear the last rites for the diamond star who pulled down $30,000 a season while he was at the top—but died penniless here Tuesday.

Hack will be buried at Martinsburg, a small town in the eastern West Virginia panhandle where he began his professional baseball career in the Class D Blue Ridge league.

Things Have Changed In Army-Navy Series

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— They'll play the Star Spangled Banner just before Army and Navy clash on the gridiron today and the strains of the anthem—and the will to win—will be just about the only things which haven't changed since the classic started 59 stoned years ago.

It is a half-million dollar proposition now, this stirring football extravaganza. But on another November Saturday afternoon in 1890, when the Cadets and the Middies first came to grips on the plains at West Point, it cost each member of the Army Corps 52 cents to meet the men of Annapolis.

To put on that first game the Cadets personally put up half of Navy's $275 traveling expenses, each Cadet authorizing a charge of 52 cents against his store account. Army also bought its own uniforms of white, laced canvas jackets and white breeches, black wool stockings and black wool caps.

There was a crowd of less than 1,000 that first time in the 90's. There were Army officers and their wives, enlisted men, a party of naval officers from a ship in New York harbor and less than 100 visitors from outside the point. The ladies sat on chairs borrowed from nearby classrooms.

Today the crowd will be better than 102,000, at $6 per head, jammed into the huge concrete horseshoe called Municipal Stadium at Philadelphia. Forty special trains will bring in 30,000 visitors.)

That first Army-Navy game saw the small Navy squad, arriving across the river from West Point by coach. The Middies ferried across the Hudson and climbed the steep heights on foot. Enroute they borrowed a goat from the yard of a non-com for a mascot.

The squads ride in style now, spending the pre-game hours at plush country clubs. Special trains bring the 3,317 Middies and the Cadet Corps of 2,430 right to the stadium siding, each accompanied by its band. The Army's two mule Mascots and the Navy goat Billy the Tenth, arrive for pre-game festivities on a specific time table.)

On that early November afternoon, the band played "Annie Laurie," and then "The Star Spangled Banner."

(Now the Corps roars out the strains of "On, Brave Old Army Team." And the Middies across the field chant "Anchors Aweigh" before the vast crowd stands silently and reverently for the national anthem.)

Col. Hamilton Hawkins gathered the Army team around him that autumn afternoon in the long ago and said:

"I shall slug the first Army player who leaves the field in an upright position."

"Slugging" was the punishment of making the Cadets parade the barracks area for violations.

Then they went at it. Navy used salty signals such as: "Reef the topsail. Stand by to clear anchor. Down the wind!" The Army's quarterback barked: "Front into line, gallop, march. In battery, heave. As skirmishers, march!"

Kirby Walker, that Army quarterback of 1890, was kocked out three times. He spent 13 days in the infirmary, recovering from concussion. That was long ago, but it wasn't anything new. But so often did these games become gory debacles that three times the series was halted.

Navy won that first game, 24 to 0.

But it only inspired the Army. And now, as they go at it for the 49th time, the Cadets have won 26 games, the Middies 19 and three were ties. It's quite a dividend on 52 cents!

Mme. Chiang Faces Cool U. S.

American Officials Silent

Direct Appeal Seen In Visit

WASHINGTON — (UP) — American policy-makers were reported cool today to Madame Chiang Kai-shek's plan to visit this country.

The forthcoming trip was viewed in some official quarters as a move by China to by-pass the policy-makers and appeal directly to Congress and the American people for more military and economic help.

Though it was generally understood that no official invitation was extended to Mme. Chiang, the state department refused to say so. This caution presumably was prompted by fear that such a statement might constitute a "loss of face" for China's already hard-pressed nationalist government.

As though in response to China's frantic entreaties for more help, Secretary of State George C. Marshall told newsmen Wednesday that the administration is well aware of the critical situation in the far East. He added that this government is seeking the proper means of helping the regime of Generalissimo Chiang.

But Marshall made it clear that the administration (1) considers the problem complicated and is proceeding cautiously; (2) is trying to determine just how deeply this country can, or should, get involved in the Chinese war; and (3) Will have to balance China aid against available supplies and "cold war" commitments elsewhere.

Meanwhile, communist forces commanded by the "one-eyed dragon," General Liupochen, today were reported to have surged to within 35 miles of Nanking, capital of Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government.

The sudden southern sweep of the communists punched another gap in the vital rail communications between Nanking and Hsuchow.

AIM AT RAIL TOWN

Government reports today said the main communist target was Chingpaling, a rail town 35 miles north of Nanking. The situation in the town was said to be "obscure." A few days ago Red demolition teams were reported to have dynamited a section of railroad track near Chingpaling was coordinated with diversionary attacks on Tingyuan and Tzuho, 70 and 50 miles northwest of Nanking to the west of Chingpaling.

The government rushed strong reinforcements south from Pengpu and north from Pukow, the southern terminus of the Nanking-Hsuchow railway opposite Nanking across the Yangtze river. These government troops are said to be encountering the communists along a line from Chingpaling to Tingyuan.

Nationalist military quarters pointed out that the communist force in this small area did not total more than 20,000 and was not likely to constitute any real danger to Nanking.

To the north of Chingpaling 120 miles a major battle has broken out along a 45 mile front between Suhsien and Linpi. The main fighting is raging 10 miles south and southeast of Suhsien, a key rail city, and 45 miles south of Hsuchow which the government forces have thus far been unable to recapture.

3 In Family Die of Fumes

MARIETTA—(UP)—A coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned today in the asphyxiation of Mrs. Edward Schoppner jr., 28, and her two children in their home near here.

Their bodies were found by the husband when he returned from work yesterday. Schoppner said his wife's body was slumped in a chair in the living room. The bodies of the two children, Eddie, 8, and Kay, 2, and the family dog were on the floor at her feet.

The gas burner in the room was turned high and all windows in the house were closed.

SEEK CALM HOLDUP

DAYTON—(INS)—Dayton police searched today for a calm holdup man who rested his gun hand on the counter and said "I'll take it all," escaping with $480 cash from a snack shop.

Ryan Sees Dock War Ending

NEW YORK—(UP)—Unloading of strike-bound ships in New York harbor will be resumed early tomorrow if a majority of the 45,000 east coast longshoremen vote in favor of a proposed new contract today.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's association, said he expected his men to ratify the pact and end the 18-day walkout despite protests by isolated rebel locals.

In a meeting described by Ryan as "a communist attempt to keep the strike going," 2,000 Brooklyn dockers last night rejected by an unofficial show of hands the 13-cent hourly wage increase which union negotiators and shippers agreed to Thursday.

"They're a bunch that's trying to spread trouble," Ryan said. "Their action will have no effect on the membership vote."

But other union officials said the Brooklyn vote indicated many rank-and-file longshoremen still are dissatisfied with the settlement.

Nevertheless, 3,500 Philadelphia dockers jumped the gun and voted a day early in favor of the agreement. Men at Hampton Roads, Va., already have accepted a 10-cent agreement negotiated Nov. 9 and are virtually certain to accept this one.

CIO stevedores on the west coast vote today and tomorrow on a new contract that would bring them a 15-cent hourly boost and end the 87-day stoppage.

CARGOES ROTTED

As the voters were counted on both coasts, shippers prepared for resumption of the nation's foreign trade. Many perishable cargoes had rotted during the walkouts, and on the east coast alone 200,000 sacks of overseas mail and $30,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid were heaped on deserted docks as 400 ships lay idle.

The strikes were estimated to have cost the nation $888,000,000 in lost wages, ruined cargoes and loss of trade.

Greek Head Near Death

Last Rites Administered

ATHENS —(UP)—Doctors early today abandoned hope for the life of Premier Themistocles Sofoulis and the last rites of the Greek Orthodox church were given the 88-year-old Liberal leader.

Attending physicians said it was only a question of how long Sofoulis' greatly weakened heart can stand up under the strain that has been imposed upon it by an attack of acute edema of the lungs.

The aged premier, who has ruled an uneasy coalition government since September, 1947, may live for only a few hours or perhaps for a full day, doctors said.

The cabinet was summoned into emergency session and King Paul was notified, as well as members of the American and British missions to Greece.

Sofoulis was stricken by a heart attack last Wednesday night in his office and has never been moved because of his precarious condition. His office was converted into a sickroom.

"I know I am on the threshold of death," Sofoulis said this morning. Later he lost consciousness. A medical bulletin at 8 a. m. said his condition continued to deteriorate. His daughter remained at his bedside.

Cut Gas Supply To Akron Homes

AKRON — (UP)— Three Akron families today resorted to antiquated heating methods after the East Ohio Gas company shut off gas supplies to their newly-installed furnace units.

The company said the gas flow to the homes was halted because the owners did not have installation permits for the gas heating equipment. It added that similar action would be taken against an estimated 100 Akron homeowners in compliance with the ban on further gas conversions determined last summer by the Ohio Public Utilities commission.

2 Arrested In Wave Of Thefts

Pair Operated In Mansfield

Arrest of two men by Columbus police was believed today to have broken up a state-wide shoplifting ring whose operations extended to Mansfield.

Two Columbus men are held in connection with the theft of merchandise valued at more than $2,000 during the past seven months in more than a dozen Ohio cities.

Columbus police told the News-Journal today the loot included a woman's silver fox coat, two men's suits, and possibly other articles, believed to have been taken here between May 1 and 15. The suspects did not identify the Mansfield stores where the articles were stolen.

Columbus police said John Matthews, 20, and William Collins, 19, both of Columbus were held in the city jail there on grand larceny charges. A third Columbus man was questioned and released.

Included in the loot were radios, dresses, suits, fur coats and other merchandise reportedly stolen in stores throughout the state since last May.

RADIOS RECOVERED

Included in the loot recovered were 14 radios, but no determination has been made if any were taken in Mansfield.

Police said the men operated by walking into a store with their coats over their shoulders. They would then grab anything they find and walk out, he said.

In statements to Columbus police Matthews and Collins admitted thefts in Zanesville, Mansfield, Nelsonville, Jackson, Athens, Marion, Mt. Vernon, Loudonville, Wooster, Canton, Dayton, Middletown, Washington C. H., London, Circleville, Chillicothe and Columbus.

The ring was uncovered last week when Hill and Matthews were arrested in Chillicothe and charged with stealing a suit there. They were bound over to the grand jury and released on bond. Columbus police arrested them when it was learned they had disposed of some of the loot there.

Columbus detectives said the two admitted that most of the stolen goods were sold to a businessman and a sportsman there, although some of it was sold to friends and taxi drivers.

CIO Launches New Campaign

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—The CIO executive board pushes the starting button today for what Philip Murray calls "the mightiest organizing crusade" in American history.

Riding into his ninth year as CIO president, Murray demanded a campaign of this size yesterday as the CIO convention adjourned. The first step was up to the executive board.

The convention gave to the board the power to take whatever action may be "appropriate and necessary" to organize workers in fields where CIO unions have failed to do the job. Many CIO leaders expected the board today to hand this enormous power over to President Murray, Secretary-Treasurer James Carey, and the nine CIO vice presidents. All those officers were re-elected yesterday without a peep of opposition.

False Teeth Bar Draftee

Richland county, yesterday, supplied only one man—three short of its quota—to the peacetime draft. A second man who had successfully passed his pre-induction physical examination was ruled out at the last minute when it was found he had false teeth.

The county's sole contribution to the peacetime preparedness effort is Hollis William Ward, 24, who roomed at 325 North Main street.

Yesterday afternoon he was sworn into the army at the Mansfield induction center along with four Morrow countians.

The lone Mansfielder represents 25 per cent of the November quota originally set for the city. The local draft board was able to find only three acceptable for military service. The induction of one was postponed. The false teeth kept a second one out. Ward got by.

Ward came here two years ago from McArthur, O. and went to work as an assembler in the Westinghouse plant. He missed being caught in the wartime draft because he was underweight. He became eligible for the new draft by gaining 20 pounds.

In a routine familiar to countless young and middle-aged men, Ward went through the process of transition from a civilian to a soldier at the induction center yesterday.

First he was told about the importance of his induction and the steps in his processing were explained. He was given a final physical inspection, was interviewed, and filled out all the forms involved in entering the army. He was given an opportunity to ask questions pertaining to the organization he is due to spend 21 months in.

After a check of his records he was sworn in along with four other men inducted from surrounding communities. He was then fingerprinted and assigned to a hotel to await his departure this morning.

Asked how he felt about getting in the army, Ward said philosophically, "It doesn't make much difference to me. I've been expecting to be drafted."

The other four men sworn in at the induction center yesterday were Gerald Roth, 23, and Harold Keaton, 21 of Marengo; Harold Heacock, 23, of Cardington; and Ralph Steele, 20, of Sparta. They were slated to go to Fort Knox with Ward.

MacArthur Eases Rule

TOKYO, — (AP) — General MacArthur's headquarters, still refusing to let newsmen witness the execution of Hideki Tojo and six other war criminals, relaxed his position ever so slightly today.

Col M P Echols, MacArthur's publicity chief, agreed, on the importuning of correspondents, to release "as soon as possible" a bulletin after the hangings are secretly carried out at Sugamo prison.

Details will follow, Echols said, as soon afterwards as they can be "prepared in the form of a typed release." The previous plan called for release of the news at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. EST. The previous date) regardless of when the men were hanged.

Previously, MacArthur had refused to permit even one newsman to witness the hangings, although the army in the execution of top German Nazis permitted a "pool" man representing the major news services to attend those executions.

Clear Skies Back Again

After an interlude of rain yesterday the weatherman came back today with sunshine and crisp temperatures like Mansfielders enjoyed Thanksgiving day.

But it won't last long, he warned. Sunday will be cloudy and colder with rain or snow due by night.

Rainfall in the city area totaled .66 of an inch yesterday and last night. Skies cleared during the night.

Low temperature this morning was 33, but the mercury had climbed to 41 by noon.

ECA Given Green Light

Truman Approves Faster Spending

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Economic Cooperation administration had a green light from President Truman today to speed up spending for European recovery.

Congress originally gave the Marshall Plan agency $5,055,000,000 to carry it through its first 15 months. But it authorized the president to let the agency spend everything in 12 months if he considered such action necessary.

ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman told the president in a letter dated Oct. 29 that he thought general recovery in Europe would benefit more by accelerated spending now.

Mr. Truman agreed late yesterday that the "pressing needs" of Europe dictated such a course. His action clears the way for Hoffman to ask the new congress for a deficiency appropriation of $1,250,000,000 for the April-June period.

Of the original ECA appropriation, Congress earmarked $1,000,000,000 for loans, the rest for grants. Of the $4,055,000,000 set aside for grants, or free recovery aid, ECA already has authorized $3,787,135,899.

24 Pickets Arrested

COLUMBUS, —(UP)—Sheriff's deputies arrested 24 pickets and two union organizers today following a brief skirmish in front of the strike-bound American Zinc Oxide Company plant in which the automobile of a worker was overturned.

The outbreak was the first in the four-month-old strike that began when the company refused to bargain with the international mine, mill and smelter workers (CIO) because its international officers failed to sign anti-communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley law.

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul said the skirmish occurred when Carl Buckenberger, maintenance man, drove up to the gate and prepared to enter the plant.

"Nobody is going through this line," one of the pickets warned Buckenberger. The picket, Buckenberger said, then shouted to the other strikers: "Let's turn his car over."

The sheriff's office dispatched 25 deputies to the scene as soon as it received word of the flare-up and the demonstration was brought under control within a half hour. Columbus police were called to furnish transportation to the county jail for the arrested men.

Ambassador Resigns

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Venezuelan ambassador to the United States has resigned. Since the government which appointed him was overthrown this week, Ambassador Gonzalo Carnevali said last night, the resignation of its representative in Washington was necessary "to avoid wrong interpretations on the dignity of his position here."

Henry F. Byrd In Serious Condition

Henry F. Byrd, 27-year-old Mansfield musician, was shot three times last night during a family quarrel at 235 Wood street, police said.

Police arrested Byrd's father-in-law, Orland T. Champion, 54, of the Wood street address, in connection with the shooting.

Officers said Byrd was shot twice in the chest and in the right arm with a .22-caliber revolver. He was in serious condition today in General hospital. The shooting occurred about 8:40 p. m. in Champion's upstairs bedroom.

According to police, Champion tried to force Byrd to leave his bedroom where the argument was in progress and when the latter refused to leave, Champion shot him.

Byrd, his wife, and their five-year-old son live with the Champions, her parents. Police said the son, Ronald, told his father Champion had called Byrd a bad name. Byrd then went to the father-in-law's room to discuss the matter, officers said.

Mrs. Ruby Champion, the victim's mother-in-law, reported the shooting to police.

Upon their arrival, police said Champion admitted the shooting and gave his gun to the officers. He then led the way to the bedroom where Byrd was found on the floor with bullet wounds in his right chest, left chest, and right arm. He was removed to General hospital in the police ambulance.

Police withheld filing of charges against Champion pending completion of their investigation and a report on Byrd's condition.

Byrd's condition was reported as "fair" by the hospital today.

WIFE AT CHURCH

In the house at the time of the shooting were Mr. and Mrs. Champion, Byrd, and his son. Byrd's wife, Betsy Jane was at church during the trouble.

Champion is employed as a compositor and pressman at the Richland Printing company. Byrd does not have a regular job, but plays a guitar in a band here, police said.

The gun used in the shooting was a .22 caliber police positive revolver, police announced.

Byrd was born in Chattanooga, Tenn., and came to Mansfield upon his discharge from the army in 1945. He had previously lived in Lafayette, Ga.

Extra Grid Show Seats Go On Sale

Banquet Committee Extends Deadline

Although the original quota of seats for the 13th annual News-Journal football banquet was sold out at 5 p. m. last night, arrangements are being made for a limited extension of the seating capacity. These additional dinner and show tickets will be available until Monday noon.

The banquet, honoring the football teams of Mansfield Senior and Madison high schools, will be staged Monday at 6:45 p. m. at the Richland Recreation Center. No tickets will be available at the Richland Monday night.

Harvey Anderson, manager of the Recreation Center and banquet officials, agreed this morning to extend the ticket deadline. Price of the dinner and "four star" entertainment program is $2.50.

Including the coaches, players and managers, more than 400 persons are already scheduled to attend the Monday festivities.

Officials still label many of the fete features "top - drawer secrets," but they keep muttering, "pigs squealing across the floor," "chickens roosting in women's hats".

Committeemen have been working hard on the entertainment angles of the banquet and the "best show ever" is promised. One official last night said that attempts were being made to sign a former four-time All-America to aid Cleveland's Dick Kroesen with the toastmaster duties.

K. L. "Tug" Wilson, former Northwestern athletic director and now commissioner of athletics for the Western Conference, is the principal speaker. Other speakers include: Dave Templeton, 1948 Ohio State football captain and Jeff DeHaven, Sandusky high school football coach.

Tickets may be purchased at the News-Journal information desk or from Bill Daugherty, Tappan Stove, Phil Hergatt, Blue Goose tavern; John Schroeder, Mansfield Tire; Pete Zeides, Westinghouse or the Fox Jewelry store.

Diapers, Baby Bottles Sure Rowdy Cure

BOSTON—(AP)—A little baby treatment — diapers and all — is the thing to curb rowdyism and vandalism Judge John H Connelly suggested the treatment might put an end to Thanksgiving day football brawl which were numerous in greater Boston over the holiday.

He explained in a post-holiday interview that his court had excellent results with the treatment.

It consists of sentencing the rowdies to live the lives of babies for 24 hours during which they wear diapers, drink from nipped bottles, and play in a baby-pen. He said no one ever subjected to the "cure" came back to his juvenile court.

Reds Flay U.N. Group

PARIS — (AP) — Russian Delegate Andrei Vishinsky today derisively called U. N. investigators in the Balkans "amateur Sherlock Holmesses."

Vishinsky also repeated before the General assembly his charges that the U. N special committee on the Balkans (UNSCOB) based its report on "garbage."

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minster made the "garbage" charge previously in efforts to discredit the evidence gathered by the commission to the effect that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were aiding the Greek guerrillas.

Waving his arms and at times pounding the table, the Russian shouted the report was based on "distortion, falsification and bad faith." Sarcastically, he said the investigators "dabbled in detective work."

Christmas Lights Turned On In City

Central Park Becomes Fairyland

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Christmas came to Mansfield last night when the lights went on in Central park, changing the park into a holiday fairyland.

Despite the rain, hundreds of Christmas shoppers were on downtown streets when the Christmas lights were turned on for the first time this year.

The park decorations are all in the traditional Christmas colors, red and green. Red and green lights glittered through the mist on ropes of laurel strung overhead. Even the bulbs in street lights around the park had been changed to red and green.

Stars made of Christmas greens outlined with white lights sparkled as they hung at intervals from the overhead laurel ropes.

At each of the eight entrances to the park a white arbor festooned with green had been erected. At four of the entrances lighted Santa Claus faces in Christmas wreaths greeted Mansfielders.

In the northwest corner of the park a 30-foot Christmas tree was decorated with lighted red and green balls and Christmas bells.

The fountain in the center of the park has undergone a transformation, too. Ropes of Christmas greens interspersed with electric bulbs covered the fountain so that it looked like a huge Christmas bell.

The park decorations are sponsored by the Retail Merchants association and are made possible by contributions of member businesses.

The park will be lighted each evening from now through New Years.

Parables Illustrate Bible Messages

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 5:1-7; Matthew 13:31-33, 44-46; Luke 10:25-37; 15:3-32.

A lawyer asked Jesus what to do that he might inherit eternal life? Jesus told him that it was written in the scriptures that he should love God wholeheartedly, and his neighbor as himself.

The lawyer asked Jesus whom he considered his neighbor? Jesus said a man was robbed and wounded by thieves. Some passed him by, but a Samaritan cared for him. He was the good neighbor

Another parable Jesus told was that of the shepherd who, having a hundred sheep, lost one, and searched until he found it, then called in his neighbors and friends to celebrate with him.

Jesus also told of the woman who lost one of her ten pieces of silver, and when she found it, she called her friends to rejoice with her.

Pastor Pays Tribute To Isaac Watts

"Isaac Watts and His Hymns" will be the subject of the service at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the First United Presbyterian church.

Rev. Charles L. Shook has chosen to recognize the anniversary of the death of this great English song writer, in keeping with the program of the National Federation of Music clubs and the Hymn Society of America.

"This will be a fitting celebration of the 200th anniversary of the death of Isaac Watts, who died Nov. 25, 1748, and whose famous hymns are much loved and widely used today," Rev. Shook said.

"Nothing but Watts' hymns, which have brought peace, comfort, hope, and assurance, will be used at this service."

Stories of the most famous hymns will be told by members of the congregation. Miss Janet Dickson will tell of the hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past"; Mrs. Lynn Robenstine, "Joy to the World"; Dr. Dean Miller, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross;" Ralph Dickson jr., "Jesus Shall Reign."

The junior choir will sing, "Joy to the World." A trio composed of Mrs. E. Jackson Osborn, Mrs. Robenstine and Mrs. Shook will sing, "Alas and Did My Savior Bleed"

Eisenhower Book Comes To Library

General Writes of World War II

"Crusade In Europe," by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, is one of 21 new books which will be available at the Mansfield Public library Monday.

This non-fiction selection is a detailed personal narrative covering Eisenhower's part in the preliminary events leading up to the United States entry in World War II. It also tells of the North African and Italian campaigns, the European invasion, and a post-war visit to Russia.

The diagrams and maps included in the book will appeal to the military minded, and the general reader will be interested in Eisenhower's comments on people with whom he worked.

PERSUADE OR PERISH, by Wallace Carroll, is a good companion volume to the Eisenhower book. Carroll, an experienced newspaper reporter, interprets the conduct of the war in the European theater in terms of his specialty: psychological warfare. He centends that ineptness in and indifference to this field has lost us the good will of most of our wartime allies. This is a readable and thought provoking volume.

REPORT TO PROTESTANTS, by Marcus Bach, is sub-titled: A PERSONAL INVESTIGATION OF THE WEAKNESS, NEED, VISION, AND GREAT POTENTIAL OF PROTESTANTS TODAY. It is a comparative survey of traditional Protestantism, Roman Catholicism, and the newly-formed cults, written by a young Evangelical minister.

RED WINE OF YOUTH, by Arthur Stringer, is a biography of the English poet, Rupert Brooke, based upon materials collected by Richard Halliburton and upon further research by the author. Brooke was a handsome young poet who captured the imagination of England in the years before World War I. He died during the Gallipoli campaign.

Other non-fiction: ON BEING AN AUTHOR, Brittain; LIVE A NEW LIFE, Powers; THE STARS ARE YOUNG, Pickering; YOUTH SPEAKS ITS MIND, Davies; QUALITY CONTROLS METHODS, Kennedy; LARKS IN THE POPCORN, Smith; BURNS MANTLE BEST PLAYS 1947-8; ANDELS ELECTRIC MOTOR GUIDE; LAST OF THE PROVINCIALS, Geismar; REIGN OF QUEEN VICTORIA, Balitho; APPROVED HISTORY OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES, Henry.

BRIDIE STEEN, by Anne Crone, is a first novel written with grace and delicacy. The story is about the antagonism of Protestantism and Catholicism in Ireland, and the author shows no partisanship in her revelation of the havoc and suffering caused by religious hatreds. Bridie was an orphan cared for by an intolerant aunt, then given a home by an equally bigoted grandmother, thus becoming the innocent victim of a religious feud, from which her love for an open-minded young man was powerless to save her.

SONG BEFORE SUNRISE, by Jonreed Lauritzen, is the story of the voyageur, Dennis Julian. His search for the half-Indian girl, Nijoni, occupies most of the book, for she is the symbol of the good and the beautiful for which he seeks. Outwardly, this search is carried on in southwestern American deserts, Indian camps, and Mexican towns. It is fundamentally, however, a spiritual search carried on in the mind of the hero.

I CAPTURE THE CASTLE, by Dodie Smith, is a light and diverting tale of an eccentric English family and what happened when their castle was invaded by two brothers from America. The story is told by 17-year-old Cassandran and involves the doings of her father, a novelist; his second wife, Topaz, and her beautiful elder sister, Rose.

Other fiction: LIGHT IN THE SKY, Young; CATCH ME IF YOU CAN,, McGerr; NO HIGHWAY Norway.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS—From the old blockhouse in 1833 to the present stone structure on West Fourth street, is the history of the First Christian church which today observes its 115th anniversary. At the top left is the blockhouse where Mansfield's pioneers held many of their meetings. In the center is the first church home purchased for worship in 1868 from the Baptists on East Third street. At the top right is the room at the corner of West Fifth and North Mulberry streets occupied from 1940 to 1868.

Members Celebrate Anniversary Tomorrow

First Christian Church 115 Years Old

By NITA BRANSON
(N-J Church Editor)

Tomorrow the congregation of 930 members of the First Christian church will observe reverently and in good fellowship the founding of their church 115 years ago and the 50th anniversary of the building of their present church home.

In 1833 a group of less than 20 Mansfield men and women, devoted to the cause of Christianity as exemplified in the creed of the Disciples of Christ movement met in the old blockhouse on the square to organize into a worship medium.

Through the years the congregation has had five different meeting places. From the blockhouse, members moved to a building on North Walnut street, continuing there until 1840.

From 1840 to 1868, they worshipped in a church erected at the southeast corner of North Mulberry and West Fifth street. In 1868, a site on East Third street was purchased from the Baptists for $2,1000. The present church home, 52 West Fourth street, was built for $18,000 and dedicated on Jan. 2, 1898.

Today, as members look forward to the erection of a larger and more convenient edifice, the sum of $18,000 seems like pin money. Already, there has accumulated $50,000 in the treasury toward a new building.

Many important events have transpired during the 115 years.

In addition to the building of two church homes and the purchase of a third, there was the Sunday, April 16, 1944, when the mortgage on the present church home was lifted. It was a day for rejoicing, a typical "mortgage burning" day, made possible through the sacrifices of members by special stewardship and tithing.

The program of giving one-tenth was inaugurated 11 years ago by the present pastor, Rev. Ben. F. Hagelbarger. When he came to Mansfield 20 years ago, the church had a debt of $44,500. Not only has that debt been paid, and an extra $50,000 accrued, but the church has survived through all the vicissitudes of depression and unemployment to become one of the "strong" churches of the city with a program for discipleship and loyalty that is noteworthy.

18 PASTORS

The first pastor of the congregation was Rev. James McVey. Subsequent pastors through the years have included: Rev. John Reed, Rev. Hiram Wood, Rev. George Frost, Rev. George Kemp, Rev. J. C. Mitchell, Rev. A. S. Dabney, Rev. F. R. Hodkinson, Rev. J. E. Lynn, Rev. L. G. Batman, Rev. Howard Cramblet, Rev. Bruce Brown, Rev. M. G. Buckner, Rev. Charles R. Oakley, Rev. M. L. Jenny, Rev. Craig Schwartz, Rev. J. J. Tisdall and Rev. Hagelberger. There have been 18 in all.

It was during the pastorate of Rev. Lynn, who came to Mansfield in 1895, that a definite and encouraging swing upward in church affairs was noted. It was during his leadership that the present church home was built. When Rev. Lynn left the parish shortly after the dedication, the church roster numbered 500 members with an enrollment of 300 in the Sunday school.

Today's membership includes 38 members who have belonged to the church for 50 years or more. They are: Charles Beck, Mrs. Bessie Kipp, Sherman Bawden, Mrs. Etta Charles, Mrs. B. O. Conn, Miss Eva Cline, Mrs. Mary McFadden, Mrs. William Fendrick, Mrs. George Packham, C. G. Lindsley, Miss Jaretta McClure, Mrs. Nancy McFarland, Claude F. Phipps, Mrs. Jessie Race, Mrs. Mary Winbigler, Charles Rhodes, Edward E. Stoler, Miss Dessie R. Swisher, Mrs. Eva Swisher, Mrs. Ella P. Tappan, Mrs. Irene Armentrout, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. F. A. Callin, Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll, Mrs. Edna Dickerson, Mrs. Laura Figley, William Hasenzahl, Samuel Hetler, Mrs. Calvin McGuire, Miss Lillie Lightcap, Mrs. LeMoyne Porch, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hammett, Mrs. Ada Mohler and Mrs. Jennie Mowery.

ENTER MINISTRY

Four young men have gone into the ministry; two are preparing for the ministry and one young woman from the church is devoting her life to Christian service.

The seven include: Rev. Raymond Miller, Rev. Gillman Burghard, Rev. Ralph Miller and Rev. Joe Wilcox; Edward Gorsuch and Emmett Izer, ministerial students, and Miss Marilyn Miller.

The anniversary observance tomorrow will start with services at 10:30 a. m. at which Dr. C. M. Yocum of Indianapolis, will be the speaker. Following morning worship, there will be a basket dinner at the North Lake park pavilion at 12:30 p. m.

The program will be held at 2:30 p. m., with J. D. Wilcox, chairman of the anniversary committee presiding During the program, a history of the church will be given and the members who have been associated with the church for 50 years will be recognized. There also will be music by a quartet, and greetings from friends and former pastors, concluding with a brief talk by Rev. Hagelbarger.

Get On-Spot Training In Business

Pupils Arrange For Interviews

By SUSIE COMMINS AND SALLY RITZENTHALER

The Business Training classes of Johnny Appleseed Junior High School under the direction of J. J. Thoms, teacher, has inagurated a new vocational and business teaching approach, which has proven highly successful.

The class has voluntarily divided itself into pairs. Each duo writes letters to various business places for appointments, for interviews and inspections. Later these people report back to the entire class regarding their experiences.

All students have been instructed on letter writing, correct speech, good grooming, poise, proper manners and briefed probable questions and responses during the real interview.

Eventually, they expect to invite a number of executives to have a round table discussion or forum to summarize this project.

To date they have had a wonderful response on the part of all business concerns contacted, according to Thoms.

Rudolph, Red-Nosed Deer, Back to Delight Children

Rudolph, the little deer with the red nose, again has appeared on the scene at the Montgomery-Ward store.

Starting from a small book written three years ago by a copy writer in the Chicago headquarters, Rudolph has grown in popularity until the sale of gadgets, representing the little deer, now numbers into the millions.

Each year a simple Rudolph toy has been given free to all children who enter the store on West Third street. Last year it was a push-out toy; this year it is a picture of Rudolph and his nose will glow in the dark when touched off with a coin.

The Rudolph story has been made into records, and the little deer, who closely resembles another famous movie creature, has been recognized in various other ways to delight the hearts of small children.

"Where most reindeers' noses are brownish and tiny,
Poor Rudolph's was red,
very large, and quite shiny."

Simile: As useless as considering how the shift of a few thousand votes in several key states would have changed the result.

Ask Higher Wages, No Price Increases

WITH every indication that labor organizations will continue to follow the formula of demanding wage increases "without price boosts," the fallacy of this idea has already been so convincingly demonstrated as to require no further comment.

The opening gun in the battle for a fourth round of wage increases was fired at the CIO national convention in Portland, Ore., and it was strongly contended by Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, that "it is possible for wages to increase within the framework of a reasonable profit structure for American industry."

It will be remembered that shortly after the close of the war the theory was advanced by commerce department economists that major industries could increase wages up to 25 per cent without increasing prices.

This report, which came when Henry Wallace was head of the commerce department, immediately stimulated wage demands and fomented many strikes, including the long shutdown of General Motors.

The report of the economists was later repudiated, but not until after the damage had been done, and the same idea still seems to prevail in the minds of some labor leaders, despite the effect successive wage increases have had on prices of products of affected industries.

In the single item of automobiles, a comparison of present prices with those before the start of wage boosts provides convincing proof of the close association of wages and prices. If the inflationary spiral is to be checked without permitting the present boom to bring on a disastrous depression there must be agreement on sounder policies than those presented by round after round of wage increases and resultant price jumps.

Passing Forged Checks Is Old Racket

OUT OF the complications involved in the episode of a 19-year-old youth being charged with forging a $1,000 check in buying an automobile in Mansfield; trying to "give himself up" to the FBI; changing his mind and starting back home; picking up two hitchhikers to whom he loaned the car, etc., one question naturally arises.

How could it come about that a check for $1,000—or even a much smaller amount—would be accepted without assurance of responsibility of the person presenting it?

There may be more to this story than has yet appeared but on the basis of information thus far available it would seem that another warning is in order in the matter of checks offered in payment of merchandise or in exchange for cash. A check is worth no more than the paper upon which it is written unless the trustworthiness of the person presenting it is above suspicion.

Blight-Resisting Potatoes Developed

WHAT may be one of the significant developments of the period has been announced at a Canadian agricultural experiment station in New Brunswick, where scientists have developed a potato believed to be proof against blight.

Blight ruins about a fourth of the world potato crop every year. For individual growers it is a serious matter, since blight sweeps through large areas, sometimes wiping out half or all of a grower's crop for the year. Painstaking and expensive precautions then are necessary in that area to prevent recurrence of the blight the following year.

With potatoes as plentiful as they have been in the past year or two, savings from disease control might not seem desirable as an addition to the crop. But if blight can be eliminated, yield could be estimated more accurately in advance of planting, and the total acreage needed to produce a given crop would be reduced.

Almost every food crop is or has been subject to attack by some disease or insect pest. An important way to increase production of food may be in finding ways to protect crops from the diseases which take such a heavy toll every year.

Everybody Helps Pay Fire Losses

THIS YEAR, according to the president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, fire will enter one out of every 100 American homes. In those homes, it will kill thousands of people, at least 2,400 of them children. And it will leave a ghastly toll of ruin and waste behind it.

If you happen to be one of the lucky ones whose home escapes fire, you may think it's no problem of yours. You'll be wrong. The burden of paying for fire falls on everyone. A fire which destroys a great forest or a producing factory makes every American poorer, in loss of taxes, jobs, purchasing power, and national resources. Fire is the enemy of employment, production, and a high standard of living for the people.

Every American, as a result, has a direct and personal interest in fire prevention. His life and his home and his business are at stake. And so, going beyond purely personal considerations, is the economic health and prosperity of the community and the country. The billions that go up in smoke and flame are lost forever—and so are the lives of those who are burned to death.

According to a labor department report, the "average husband" spends more per year for clothing than does his wife—if you want to make something of it.

Noting that a circus was being searched for a criminal, the Kansas City Star quips, "The search, we must assume, was intense."

King's Illness Comes At Critical Time

THE SERIOUS arterial ailment of King George VI of Britain (for one gathers that the term "serious" is justified) is a matter of more than ordinary concern, since it comes in the midst of a great crisis in the history of the empire and commonwealth.

It is at moments like this that we view the ruler in the light of a symbolic figure whose kingship is the chief bond which has held the vast commonwealth together.

That bond is a delicate one, whose strength comes largely from the character of the wearer of the crown.

It's tough on a fellow to be regarded as a symbol when he is ill. That's a time when he doesn't want respectful homage, but plain, garden variety of sympathy—and happily in the present instance the king is getting not only respect but the vast sympathy to which he is entitled because of service to his people.

King George is what my young son would call a "good guy." That's as apt a description as I could figure out for this willing and humble servant of his subjects, and I've been watching him in action for 32 years, much of that time at close range.

We can go further, I think, and say without exaggeration that George VI has rendered his country a greater service than perhaps any of his modern predecessors in the long line of British sovereigns. That's a sweeping statement, but I call your attention to this:

George was thrust willy-nilly upon the throne at a moment when Edward VIII and "the woman I love" had rocked it most dangerously. These are perilous days for kings, and Edward threw stones at the gods.

So George came into a somewhat doubtful heritage. To make matters worse the nation shortly was plunged into a second World war, and this was followed by an economic crisis which has shaken England to the foundations.

A less steady and adaptable and loyal ruler could easily have completed the damage growing out of the abdication.

* * *

Lacked Special Training.

KINGSHIP demands long and special training. George naturally had been given some of this as a possible occupant of the throne, but it was Edward, Prince of Wales, who had been schooled with utmost care from babyhood for rule.

Probably no British king in history had such extensive and intensive training as he did—and he might have made a mighty name for himself. But the call upon George was wholly unexpected, and he lacked his brother's background.

However, George VI attacked his job with good-will and energy. And always by his side was his understanding and helpful Scots queen. With her aid he overcame a grievous impediment of speech so that he could make the addresses which are part of the king's duty.

Thus it is that, as this trouble of illness descends on the House of Windsor, we find the king and the royal family exceedingly close to the people.

Ample evidence of this was seen in the affection showered on the inmates of Buckingham palace when Princess Elizabeth's baby was born the other day. The little prince belongs to every family in the kingdom.

The gravity of the king's malady is clearly shown by cancellation of his proposed tour of the dominions. That has been regarded as a tremendously important mission, especially in view of the changes which the empire is undergoing. Only a major difficulty could cause abandonment of this trip.

TIME FOR APPLEBUTTER

APPLEBUTTER making always gives me a peculiar satisfaction. Among the Pennsylvania Dutch, where I was born and reared, it was the custom to have an apple-paring the evening before apple-butter day. Young folks and old came together at each home in turn, for everybody had applebutter on the table all year round. There'd be doughnuts and pumpkin pie and lots of fresh sweet cider, and before the crowd went home two ample wooden hogsheads would be piled full of apple snitz.

My Grandfather Byers always used two copper kettles, side by side upon the same pole. So no heat was wasted. Both kettles were filled with cider and boiled until the contents of the smaller could be dipped out with a huge copper dipper and put into the larger. Then the small kettle was refilled, and the apples were added to the large one.

One of my uncles, of inventive turn, contrived a stirrer that had a pivot and could be turned by a crank. It had a wooden scraper that went around and around the bottom of the kettle.

It was a turnabout job for the younger boys, of whom I was one, to crank the kettle for an hour at a time. So every boy ate his full share of applebutter with extra relish.

We made only 11 gallons, so far this year. I bought an old copper kettle at an auction not long ago and had a long-handled stirrer made at the high school woodworking shop. (Our neighbor whose tools I have borrowed for several years may now borrow mine).

The papers said a storm was brewing, but the day started out clear, and some of us farmers don't go by the papers anyway, so I siphoned off enough cider to fill my kettle while the boys hitched the tractor to some fallen logs in the woods and dragged them home for the fire.

Soon the flames leaped and crackled all around the big cauldron. The cider steamed, then small pools began to rise and dimple and sputter, then the whole mass rolled in great frothy waves toward the center.

I had some cold cider handy, and kept it from boiling over by adding a little. Then I kept the fire well beneath the pot by pulling out some of the sticks, and let the cider boil down to half its bulk.

While it boiled, my wife and I snitzed a big galvanized tubful of apples. Rome Beauties, they were, very mellow and easy to cook. Every member of the family had a turn at stirring the apples into the thick dark cider.

When the whole mass was smooth and heavy we took some out and let it cool. No cider separated from the pulp, so we added some brown sugar and spice, and lifted the kettle off while we filled the 11 big jars. If the weather holds good, we may make yet another batch before Christmas.

The Nation Today

To Vote or Not To Vote

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — After every election in this country come screams about the small number of people who voted.

But what's the answer?

1. Should people be prodded into voting by fining them for not voting?

That would get more people to the polls. It works in Australia and New Zealand, where there are fines for the stay-at-homes.

2. Should the people be given some kind of reward or inducement to get them to vote, like a tax reduction?

That, too, probably would get a lot more people to the polls.

3. Or should voting or not voting be left up to the people themselves. But suppose the democracy collapses sometime because not enough voted?

In that case, democracy would have to be marked off as a failure which collapsed by itself. But is that too much of a chance to take?

These are old questions. But now they've been given a shot in the arm by Rep. Klein, New York Democrat. He's just announced he'll introduce in the new Congress a bill to give a tax reduction to people who vote.

He doesn't seem to have high hopes that his bill will become law. But he hopes it will start talk which may result in action or an answer.

His idea is this:

Give everyone who votes a certificate that can be used in getting a deduction from the income tax.

How much deduction? About $30 from a person's gross income before he starts figuring his tax. The actual tax saving would be small.

There wouldn't be any benefit to the voters whose income is too small to be taxed.

* * *

Pro and Con Arguments.

BUT, anyway, Klein wants his idea to be a starting point and if some better way of getting people to the polls can be worked out, he'll be satisfied.

This month about 48,000,000 out of 94,000,000 Americans of voting age went to the polls. That's just a little better than 50 per cent.

In Australia a person is fined about $10 if he fails to register when he's supposed to. But if he registers and doesn't vote, he's also fined.

Between 90 and 95 per cent of the people of voting age in Australia now vote. Before the fines were imposed, only about 65 per cent—a higher percentage than in this country—took the trouble to vote.

In New Zealand there's a fine for not registering although there's no fine for not voting. The number of people who register is near 100 per cent and the number of those who vote is about 90 per cent.

Of course, while Klein's idea—a tax reduction for voters—can be looked upon as a reward or inducement to vote, it is in effect a fine for not voting.

A lot of people have argued long and loud whether people in a democracy should be fined or rewarded for voting.

One argument goes: voting is a duty. People should perform it. But voting or not voting should be a man's free choice in a democracy. And . . .

A democracy should be permitted to rise or fall upon the interest which the people show in it.

Another argument on the other side goes: Why force everybody to vote? That would mean forcing a lot of people to vote who don't know the issues or don't care who wins.

This latter argument seems to be based on the idea that everyone who votes knows precisely and intelligently why he votes the way he does.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Mapping Program For Next Congress

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEGISLATIVE bills to implement the President's domestic program now are being prepared more than a month before the 81st Congress is to convene.

The broad outline of that program is well known. Mr. Truman made it the cornerstone of his election campaign and he has a mandate from the people to back it up. Even while the President was on vacation, cabinet and congressional leaders dropped into the Key West, Fla., naval base to confer.

Vice President-elect Barkley, who was 71 on Wednesday, will step back again as Senate majority leader briefly when the Democrats organize Congress on January 3. He will not be sworn in as vice president until January 20.

Actually, it will give Barkley a chance to help start the Truman domestic program through the legislative machinery. And it will give him a final touch of the rough and tumble of Senate debate in which he is a recognized master.

"Nothing to Be Scared Of"

House Speaker-to-be Sam Rayburn, after a vacation meeting with the chief executive, said Wall Street and big business had "nothing to be scared of" in the the administration program. He declared:

"With the buying power of this country at its height, and people able to buy everything manufactured or grown at a reasonable profit to manufacturers and growers, I don't see anything anybody's got to be scared about. Nobody can say the country is not prosperous and healthy.

"If a major recession or depression should come—which I do not expect—it will not be justified by our economic situation, but it will be man-made."

Fight On Housing

Twice-beaten long range housing is one bill that seems certain to be given priority in the new Congress. But even though leaders expect it to pass, they anticipate a stiff fight on it again in the House, where it failed previously each time.

The new bill will be similar if not identical to the Taft-Ellender-Wagner measure of the last two Congresses. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) has said he will revive it soon after Congress meets.

Controversy over the TEW bill centered on its slum clearance, public housing and rural housing provisions. Under these the federal government would aid cities and local communities in providing housing for low income groups.

At Home

Communism and Religion.

"You cannot be a Communist and believe in God," says the House un-American activities committee.

Its report, "One Hundred Things You Should Know About Communism and Religion," is one of a series to be made public before the end of the year. Others will deal with education, labor and government. Already published is "One Hundred Things You Should Know Amout Communism in the U. S. A."

"You cannot believe in God and have a peaceable life under Communism," says the new report. "In all their plans and actions, Communists mark down religion as Enemy No. 1. Where they dominate, they attack it head on. Where they do not dominate, they try to deceive and corrupt from within."

* * *

Fourth Round Sighted.

Organized labor is getting set for a fourth round of post-war wage increases.

The drive was spearheaded at the convention of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) in Portland, Ore., by Philip Murray, CIO president. Murray predicted the fourth round would start early next year.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, declared prices have risen so much that it would take a raise of 15 cents an hour to give workers the same purchasing power they had in June, 1946. It would take a hike of 43 cents an hour, he said, to put them back where they were in 1944.

The American Federation of Labor in convention at Cincinnati called for a defensive military alliance with friendly nations against Russian Communism. It also called for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law and amendments to the Wagner Act safeguarding national welfare against irresponsible strikes in key industries.

* * *

Need for Teachers.

This country will need more than a million new grade school teachers—approximately 100,000 a year in the next decade.

That's the estimate of a joint committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the National Education Association.

Because of an accumulated shortage, the committee says, 150,000 to 175,000 new elementary teachers are needed in 1948-49. Yet in 1948 only about 20,000 new elementary teachers were prepared by American colleges at one, two, three and four-year preparation levels. Fewer than 12,000 of these were college graduates.

After the Operation.

Surgery patients should begin walking the same day they undergo an operation — immediately after they recover from the anesthetic.

That's the advice of Dr. D. J. Leithauser of Detroit, a pioneer in the field of early ambulation, given to the U. S. chapter of the International College of Surgeons in St. Louis.

Walking soon after the operation creates no danger of wound disturbance if the operation has been performed properly, he said.

Advises "Spare the Rod."

Spanking a child is always bad, especially so at certain ages, Dr. Arnold Gesell, child phychologist, told the American Academy of Pediatrics in Atlantic City.

A child at about 2½ years often appears obstinate and perverse, frequently doing the exact opposite of what he is told, Dr. Gesell said. Actually, however, the child may be only confused and spanking is particularly bad. He is just learning the difference between opposites, like yes and no, yours and mine, come and go.

Abroad

One-Party Elections.

Spain's first municipal elections under the Franco regime resulted—to no one's surprise—in victory for pro-Franco councilmen throughout the country.

Last Sunday's elections were the first since the end of the civil war in 1939. So-called official tickets were supported by the appointed provincial and city administrations and the totalitarian Falange Party, Spain's only political party.

The ministry of the interior reported that 70.9 per cent of the 6,510,598 heads of families eligible to vote had done so. Eligible voters who did not vote are liable to fines.

There was little underground activity by leftist organizations. As far as could be learned, the underground urged voters to stay away from the polls only in Madrid, Seville and Barcelona.

What Aid to China?

What to do about China is one of the most pressing problems confronting the United States. It's a top-drawer diplomatic decision, one penetrating to the core of America's new global foreign policy. And it has to be made quickly.

Total American wartime and post-war aid to China is estimated by the State Department at $3,600,000,000, including lend-lease. This has all been funneled to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

During the last year Chiang's Nationalist government has suffered severe military and economic losses. Chinese Communists now control all Manchuria, dominate most of north China and threaten to push Nationalist armies out of central China.

Qualified By Seniority

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—If a member of Congress can stay in long enough and live long enough he can become chairman of a committee which is, of course, a key place and elevates him to that elect place of "congressional leaders," even if at an advanced age quite often.

That's the only way he can get there under the seniority system. For there is no selectivity on the basis of special ability or qualities of leadership, but only through the gradual process presided over by Father Time and the goddess of chance.

How much a part time plays may be seen in the fact that the average age of those in the Senate who are slated to become chairmen in the new 81st Democratic Congress is 66, and in the House a bit higher, 67.

Venerability, truly, is the rule, to which five men in their fifties out of 34 hardly offer an exception. The others are in their sixties and seventies, with two in the eighties.

While age in Congress is almost invariably a guarantee of experience, it is no sure guarantee of ability, or even wisdom. Able men eventually get their due if they can last, but not all who eventually become chairmen are necessarily able.

In this way the seniority system is a drawback to the best legislative government. But it has other drawbacks which become important now in looking to the next administration and its new Congress which are charged by the election mandate to put through the social program which was made the issue by President Truman.

For that it is essential that there be what we call party responsibility. The seniority system offers obstacles to clear-cut responsible party government, for often it brings to the top as chairmen men not sympathetic with the objectives of the President, the party leaders, as President Truman learned in the last Democratic Congress, the 79th, and as President Roosevelt learned in previous congresses in his time.

It is true of some chairmen in the new incoming Congress.

As explained here previously, when Democrats are in power, as they are again now, an undue proportion of key posts and chairmanships goes to southerners because of the one-party system in the South that conduces to long tenure in Congress. This was an influence in the successful blockade by southern conservatives, in coalition with Republicans, against Roosevelt and Truman proposals in previous congresses.

This preponderance still exists in the new Congress. While recalcitrants may be whipped into line temporarily by the extent of President Truman's victory, that may not last.

Reform is needed to maintain and preserve real party responsibility, whichever party is in power.

The Republican party has the same problem. Its dominant midwestern conservative leadership in Congress, a beneficiary also of the seniority system, blocked the social reform program pledged in platforms of recent years in the 80th Congress and that certainly was a factor in the party's defeat in the last election.

The joint congressional committee that drafted the 1946 congressional reorganization act wrestled with the seniority problem, but got nowhere.

George B. Galloway, who was staff director of the joint committee, suggests three solutions in his book "Congress At the Crossroads"—selection by party caucus, which he thought least advantageous; selection by the party committee on committees; appointment by the majority leader in each party who is responsible for the party's legislative program.

He preferred the last and recommended that the majority leader be empowered by the party caucus to remove chairmen who refused to cooperate in the party program.
